MCDONALD ISN'T COMING FOR FUN, ROGERS' WARNING

(Special To The News)
SANTA MONICA, Cal., Sept. 16.—Philip Snowden, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's "honest man," is not over on the continent and talked the allies out of a half billion of German reparations money. And he came back to England a bigger hero than McDonald.

So Ramsay says to himself, I will do the going from now on. So he is coming over here. So watch him, Herbert, Englishmen are the only race of people that never travel just for fun. Personally, I think he wants to show us the advantage of England retaining the largest navy. You won't be asked for any monetary consideration. Mr. Hoover, just do a little fancy ship sinking.

Yours, WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

City workmen have placed some limestone on the Mercer street hill, which helps some. The roadway was getting quite bumpy.

Work is progressing on the construction of the new vocational school at the school property in Mt. Jackson. The new building is being erected near the centralized school.

Weather conditions today were quite appropriate to the passing of the straw hat season yesterday. It was quite snappy this morning.

Plans for the celebration at Leesburg for the opening of the new highway, call for observance on September 28, instead of September 18, as an error made the statement in this column read on Saturday.

Philadelphia voters will ballot on an improvement bond issue for the city of $55,000,000 this fall.

Pumpkins are ripe. Large numbers are to be noted at warehouse markets along the roads in this district.

Buckwheat is being harvested. This is the last grain crop of the year to be cut, except corn.

It's a wonder to Pa New that more accidents do not occur in the Oakland district. Promoters using the street for a sidewalk never seem to care how many autos are coming, they continue to walk three or four abreast in the street.

There is a crossing over the railroad between Bessemer and Mt. Jackson, just on the edge of Bessemer that could stand a little attention. Autoists get quite a jolt passing over it.

Light frosts were reported from various sections of the county over the week-end. The minimum temperature recorded this morning was 40, while Sunday morning the thermometer got down to 39 degrees. No damage resulted, however.

Saturday afternoon's shower must have been purely local in character. Around 3 o'clock quite a heavy shower was noticed in the downtown section of the city and it had been drizzling much during the day. Only .04 inches of rainfall was recorded at the local weather observing station at the water works.

Pa New is certainly convinced that daylight savings time should cease with the first of September. There is nothing being gained for the benefit of many people by observing daylight savings time this month.

Figures for the 24-hour period ending Sunday morning at 9 o'clock were as follows: Maximum temperature, 67. Minimum temperature, 39. Precipitation, .04 inches. River stage, 3.8 feet.

Registrars Report Early And Commissioners Start Ballot Distribution

Total registration in the city of New Castle this year is 11,029, according to the returns of registrars made to the county commissioners this morning. This compares with around 14,000 at the last registration. The returns include the figures for the three registration days.

Registration on the first and second days was very light, but on last Saturday voters turned out well with the result that a good registration was made. Registrars returned their books early this morning, practically all of them being in by 10 o'clock. County commissioners immediately began the distribution of ballots in the city.

The largest registration for any one precinct was in the fourth of the fourth ward, with 478, and the lowest was in the second of the seventh ward where there were only 47. The precinct of the second ward had the

Torch Murder Case Called

Earl Peacock Goes On Trial For Murder Of His Wife

SELECTING JURY TO HEAR EVIDENCE

By JAMES L. KILGALEN
International News Service Staff
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—With a crowd of curious thrill seeking spectators in court the trial of Earl Francis Peacock, charged with the "torch murder" of his pretty young wife, Dorothy, got under way here today.

Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, opened the trial and examination of the 150 taxmen was started. The task of obtaining a jury is expected to take two or three days.

Peacock, appeared in the court minus the little mustache which he affected when arrested.

The courtroom was crowded before Justice Tompkins ascended the bench. To maintain order, Sheriff Thomas V. Underhill had a force of 14 deputy sheriffs on duty in the courthouse and in the courtroom.

Eugene Bussey, the former Johns Hopkins student from Baltimore was missing when the trial started and Syme announced that Bussey was in Colon, Canal Zone and did not expect to appear.

He was a close personal friend of Peacock and was expected to testify in his behalf. Bussey had told in newspaper interviews of the intimate marital relations of Peacock and was expected to be a great factor in the "flaming youth" defense Syme has promised to stage.

District Attorney Frank H. Coyne, prosecuting the case is assisted by J. Lester Albertson and Lawrence Hazzard.

CLOTHING CATCHES FIRE; GIRL IS BADLY BURNED

Lottie Cornish, 6, Of Quest Street Suffers Terrible Burns Late Saturday

Fire Extinguished By Joe Knowles — Probably Saves Girl's Life

Lottie Cornish, aged 6, of 130 Quest street, was terribly burned about the back Saturday evening about 9 o'clock while she and her sister Sarah, aged 8, and brothers, Lawrence aged 11 and Jack 12, were playing house in a shanty consisting of a packing box located beside their coal house, when her clothing caught fire from an incandescent lantern consisting of a can filled presumably with oil and a piece of rope as wick was upset.

Only the prompt work of Joseph Knowles, who resides next door, saved the child from death at the time and will probably result in saving her life.

Mr. Knowles had just returned from down town where he had been doing the week end shopping and had seated himself on his doorstep when he saw one of the boys come from the Cornish home with a tin can and a piece of rope. The boy saturated the rope in the contents of the can and then struck a match lighting the rope. It blazed up causing him to drop it and the blazing rope fell into the can which became a mass of flames as its contents ignited. This occurred in the so-called shanty or playhouse in which all four children were at the time. Jack, the older boy had presence of mind enough to kick the blazing can from the shanty and then the occupants tried to scramble out to safety. The blazing can was right in front of the entrance to the playhouse and (Continued On Page Two)

French Troops Take Up Posts In Rhineland

New Complications Develop As British Troops Leave Germany, And French Re-Enter

CITIZENS PROTEST NEW OCCUPATION

By HARRY R. FLORY
International News Service Staff
LONDON, Sept. 16.—New complications loomed today in the Pan-European efforts to liquidate problems hanging over from the war with the revelation that exodus of British occupational troops from the Rhineland is being followed by entry of French troops into the German territory.

On the heels of the departure of the first British troops from Wiesbaden, one of the most important occupied towns, has come official intimation that French soldiers are to be stationed there to take their places.

The Daily Express correspondent at Wiesbaden, in a message to his paper today, declares that the entire Rhineland population is incensed over the new occupation, coming out of a clear sky just when residents of the town were bidding a none too sad farewell to the "Tommys" who had made Wiesbaden their home since the close of the war.

The correspondent declares that the length of time the French troops will remain is indefinite as "all kinds of diplomatic complications have to be sorted out."

News of the French re-occupation caused considerable surprise here. Although it is pointed out that the action is entirely orthodox and that France is perfectly within her rights in sending forces into the newly evacuated territory.

Councilmen Make Street Inspection

Councilmen today visited Grant street, Butler and Croton avenues for the purpose of trying to arrive at a decision how $70,000 state aid money to be expended here next year, can be best spent. They were to have made the view Saturday but other duties kept them from the inspection.

To Election Boards

It is the request of The News that returns of the primary election on Tuesday in the city and county be sent or telephoned to The News as soon as possible. Call 4000.

It is also the desire of The News to impress upon all election boards that it is a requirement that report of the result of the primary election be posted outside the polling place as soon as completed. In some precincts reporters have found in recent years that this duty has been neglected by the election board, and it has greatly hampered the work of securing a complete record of the election.

Plumbers Ask For Dismissal Of Stevenson

Present Petition To Council Asking Dismissal Of Plumbing Inspector

MAKE MANY CHARGES AGAINST OFFICIAL

Council To Set Time For Stevenson To Make His Defense

Dismissal of Ed Stevenson as city inspector of plumbing was asked in a petition presented to city council today by members of the Master Plumbers association and local 39 of the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers.

The presentation was made by Walter Braham, attorney for the plumbers. The petition charged Stevenson had failed to enforce the state code and ordinance relating to plumbing, is incompetent and had favored a firm with which he formerly was affiliated.

To Hear Defense. Members of council listened to the attorney who read the voluminous petition after which it was referred to committee. Inspector Stevenson, councilmen decided should have time to prepare a defense after which a date for hearing the charges would be set.

The petition was signed by the Whittie Plumbing company, C. E. Arple, William N. Clark company, Frank P. Andrews and Sons, John R. Ellison, W. L. Bradford, Ira K. Alford and J. L. Woods, members of the Master Plumbers association and local branch of the Plumbers union.

In brief the petition alleged: That Mr. Stevenson did not enforce all the plumbing laws and has not performed his duties. That he has demonstrated his incompetency in a fire department.

School Bus Taken For Joy Riding

Primaries Will Draw Near Normal Vote On Tuesday

Late Registration Swells List Of Eligibles To Considerable Extent

VOTING TAKES PLACE ON STANDARD TIME

Polls Will Open At 8 O'Clock Daylight Time And Close At 8

Late registration, particularly in the second, third and fourth wards of New Castle on Saturday afternoon and evening indicate that the pre-campaign lethargy which seemed to grip the voters had been shaken off and that there would be a fair sized vote cast tomorrow, Primary Day.

It is not to be expected that the vote will reach the size of that cast in the November election of 1928. At that election about 13,000 votes were cast in the city and slightly more than that in the county outside the city. It is predicted that the vote cast in New Castle tomorrow will not likely run over 8500.

Eastern Standard Time. The election of Tuesday, September 17 will be conducted on Eastern Standard Time. This means that the polls will not open until eight o'clock Daylight Savings Time and will close at eight o'clock P. M. Daylight Savings Time.

While the usual pre-election interest has been lagging to a large extent, yet the primary is an important one to the county and to its citizens. A district attorney will be nominated, a sheriff, a register and recorder, jury commissioners, council, school directors and many ward and precinct officers.

Party Changes On Ellport Books Are Made After Hearing

Ellport borough bobbed up in county court again this morning when several citizens presented a petition claiming that they had been registered with the wrong party affiliation.

Several witnesses were heard before Judge Zischbein, among them being Lee Wallis, registrar. He claimed that in a few instances that he had found difficulty in finding out just what party the voter wished to be registered under. The mixup seemed to have occurred when a husband or wife gave the party affiliation of the other. Several voters were allowed to change their party affiliations, and Mr. Wallace entered them under the parties of their choice on the books.

Bloodshed, Lynch Law, And Terrorism Prevails As Result Of Textile Strike

CHARLOTTE POLICE ARE KEPT BUSY

By HENRY LESENNE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 16.—Sporadic flares of bloodshed, lynch law and terrorism over America's newest Communist-Capitalistic battle ground today clogged the judicial machinery of two counties. Detention of seven men in the mob murder of Mrs. Elsie Wiggins, a young mother of five, in Gastonia brought about the number of defendants in cases growing out of the recent Gastonia Textile strike to 52.

Seven Are Held. Late yesterday the seven were held over on $1,000 bond for grand jury action as a result of a coroner's probe. The woman was shot by a mob which chased 123 workers from a Communist mass meeting that 100 deputized vigilantes nipped in the bud.

The coroner's probe has been continued until Saturday. Solicitor John M. Carpenter, who is adding in the inquiry, promised that many others would be drawn into the net of circumstances before the investigation ends.

South Gastonia, which Saturday afternoon resembled the spectacle of a war front, apparently has returned to a state of near normalcy.

Meantime in Charlotte fourteen Gastonia citizens, including three policemen and eleven loyal mill workers, were being given a preliminary hearing growing out of an anti-Communist demonstration at Gastonia Monday night.

The couple was apprehended in Detroit and brought back to this city and an effort is being made to have the marriage annulled.

There'll be sorrow on the morrow, there'll be weeping, there'll be the joy, there'll be sad condoling messages and shouts of "atta boy". For the candidates will soon find out, one good they are in running, and whether folks meant all they said, or whether they were kidding. They've spent their time and money too, and worked the county over, they've asked to lead on city streets, and at in hay and clover. But all their work is done almost, tomorrow tells the score, of who has won and who is lost, the weather's seventy-four.

The party had no license to drive and the machine struck another man's car.

The arrest, trial and conviction followed.

as little Lottie tried to get out the back of her dress caught on fire and she was a mass of flames in a minute. She ran screaming to Mr. Knowles who had started for the place. He seized her and tore off the blazing garments, burning his hands slightly in doing so.

He then carried the little sufferer into his home and laying her on a couch with the aid of his wife covered the burned portions of her body with lard.

The parents of the children were down town and Mr. Moon and the older children started to find them, finally locating the parents near the public square. They rushed home. In the meantime a physician was called and attended the severely burned little girl. The attending physician stated that provided the burns were not too deep that she would get over them. It was thought best that she not be removed from her home.

According to the latest reports she spent a fairly good night Saturday and her condition was as good as could be expected on Sunday and until the present time. It is believed that she has a chance of recovery.

TIN MILL MEN HAVE CORN ROAST

steamed corn, only in a different manner.

Sport Program

The early afternoon hours were devoted to a sports program with the Foreman playing the Office Force. The umpire, Clint Mitchell, was accused of favoring the foreman and the game broke up in a rush—for the pavilion where the eats were being served.

Corn and hotdogs and ice cream occupied the attention for an hour or so, with H. S. Christman interspersing moche with music with Assistant Superintendent Aldridge at the piano.

The Tin Millers' quartet composed of Dick Gwillym, Jack Hoak, Charley Harris and Dave Hopkins, wailed a few selections and Clint Mitchell and Homer Marley really broke up the party with a duet. A little later, to show his versatility, Mr. Marley acted as judge of the beauty contest. Being a gentleman he prefers blondes, but as a judge of a beauty contest the losers all claimed he was still a good baritone singer.

Aldridge, Nelson and Pascoe, Wizards of Harmony favored with a trio, and Henry and Ed Gibson did tricks on their mandolins.

Among the speakers were John A. Butler, formerly manager of the plant but recently promoted to the Farrell Plant, Earl R. Thompson, now manager of the plant, and Dr. H. E. Zerner, who asked that his name be kept out of this article. Herb Tustin donated the prizes for the athletic contest winners.

To Hold Others

The corn roast was a successful affair and will be followed later with other social events. The organization is composed of all foremen in the New Castle Tin plant, and has for its purpose the blending of ideas, the promotion of efficiency and the furtherance of social contacts between the men and their families.

Hot, In Two Ways.
Mellon On Hoover.
The Warship Question.
Diamonds From Sugar.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features
Syn., Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Hot here, as to weather and discussion. A tariff, with tens of millions for able men, involved in one paragraph, arouses genuine interest.

The government is carrying out a great building programme, discarding cheap buildings, hurriedly erected in war.

One of the official buildings, 1,000 feet long, more than 500 feet wide, will be among the biggest in the world and cost $17,000,000. In floor space, it is surpassed only by James Simpson's building on the edge of the Chicago River.

President Hoover, in town to stay, no more camp week-ends, works ceaselessly, with amazing concentration, beginning at seven a. m., throwing a ten-pound medicine ball with friends, of whom about twenty are invited for any morning.

Many doctors would tell the President that such work is not safe for men past fifty.

Secretary Mellon says of the President, "No man in that office has ever worked harder, or been more fertile in ideas. But he seems to thrive on it."

Billy Hard, who often joins the medicine ball class and weighs little more than the ball, says the President acts like a man who has accepted a hard job and means to go through it.

"A friend," says Hard, "asked the President how he liked it, after Mr. Hoover had been in the White House two weeks. The President, looking at a pile of documents on his desk, replied: 'I think that pretty soon I'll have this job learned.'"

Ramsay MacDonald arrives in about three weeks to talk over armaments at sea. He probably comes prepared to ratify officially a program already agreed upon, substantially. He would not want to return with nothing after Snowden's triumphant round trip to The Hague.

The British, well informed by their separate air department, care little about surface ships for any future war. They know that ships will cut no figure.

But they have 70,000 miles of sea coast to patrol, in their empire. Their cruisers are really floating forts or police stations, boarding houses for marines that can be landed when needed, they moved on to soothe the next troubled spot.

If the President would establish an air department, separate from the Army and Navy, appointing a head engineer, with others under him, all controlled by Engineer Hoover, to develop new air ideas, Uncle Sam might not spend his life cowering Germany, Italy and Britain. And we would not worry about warships.

Friends the President will do that. Perhaps that, when he recently saw a news reel of the great, old metal Durrer plane, with 12 engines, able to carry 100 passengers, he seemed deeply interested.

Prof. Hershey, of McPherson College, tells scientists at Minneapolis that genuine diamonds, of superb color, can be made by subjecting ordinary sugar to a pressure of 10 tons to the square inch.

He has produced such diamonds in his laboratory.

In another laboratory, the Senate. Mr. Smoot is about to prove that he produces for friends cash money to buy all the diamonds in South Africa by subjecting ordinary table sugar to a tariff pressure of two cents or so per pound.

Frederick H. Cowles, chairman of the Forest Fire Prevention Committee, seeks to interest the government in more efficient forest protection. Disappearing forests explain diminishing rainfall. The forest area, once 822,000,000 acres, is reduced now to 100,000,000 acres.

More than 700 rivers and streams, shown on old maps, can no longer be found, 80 per cent of rainfall would be absorbed by trees and other vegetation, re-evaporated, and returned to earth in rain.

For lack of trees, the water rushing into streams and rivers, washing valuable top soil away, and out to sea. That is one of ten thousand things the President is asked to take up, all at once.

He has taken it up, through Secretary Hyde, of the Department of Agriculture. The difficulty is to fight fire in mountain ridges, where no water is available, and fire goes roaring through thousands of acres in a day.

Scientists should concentrate on chemical warfare against fire, with airplanes.

Standard and other oil stocks have been going up in spite of British invasion by "Shell." The 24,754,997 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock are worth about two billion dollars now.

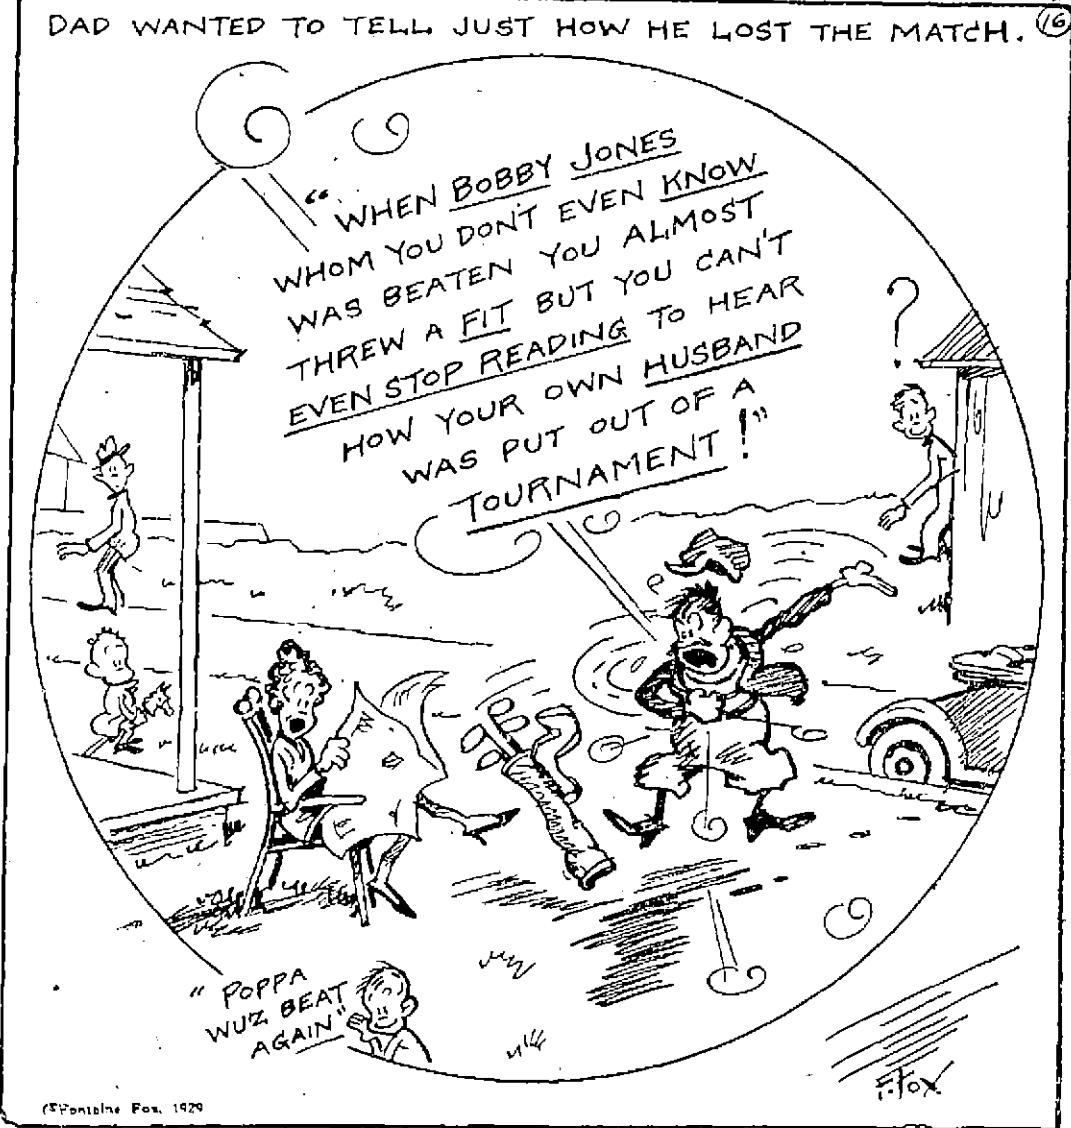

That is just one fragment of old Standard Oil, built up by Mr. Rockefeller and chopped into pieces by a rampaging government because it was supposed to be worth "nearly a billion" all together.

What old Standard Oil is really worth now nobody knows. Including oil in the ground, ten billions would probably be a reasonable price.

You can never be quite sure what things are worth in the United States. So don't sell short.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 6:08. Sun rises tomorrow 5:42.

The great trouble in this world is that there are too many people all ways against everything and not for anything.

Be sure and vote at the primaries tomorrow, Mr. and Mrs. America. This is a government of the people if they want to make it such and the personal interest politicians will have very little show if all good citizens do their duty and do some thinking while doing it.

OF COURSE, THE PUBLIC WOULDN'T FALL FOR IT. Everything was chaos. Buildings were hurtling off into space. Rain was falling upward. Men were bounding 50 feet at a step. In short, everything was doing what was impossible.

"Say you!" I shouted at a fellow who was throwing a ball a mile high. "What's the matter with the world?" "Didn't you hear?" he shouted back. "Congress passed a law ordering the law of gravity to be enforced."—Contributed.

Some of the fashionable ladies in New York are dispensing with rouge and other artificial colorings. Well, that may make some of them look better.

C. H. H. postcards: "Who remembers when dad always returned thanks at the table before each meal, and if any man in the neighborhood had the reputation of not doing so he was looked upon with distrust?"

"A bigot," said the Man at the Desk. "Is a guy who is dead sure about something he doesn't know anything about."

"Let us not deceive ourselves," said a speaker at a local improvement club meeting the other night. "Let's not be like the ostrich that hides its head in the sand."

Eighty stolen cars were recovered in Pennsylvania during August and 21 persons were arrested. The percentage of arrests compared to the stolen cars is not so good. Stealing cars is still in its infancy at that.

A NOTORIOUS NAME. Recently a newly rich woman was invited to a meeting of the Boston Browning society, on which occasion a number of the poet's verses were read. Evidently they did not intrigue her greatly, for on her way out from the meeting she was heard to say:

"Well, if the samples we've been listening to are the best Browning can do in the way of writing poetry, and I had to listen to much of it, I couldn't blame Peaches for leaving him."

There will be no real joy in motoring until pedestrians, trucks and all slow vehicles are forbidden the use of the streets and highways.

Plans are being made in Pittsburgh to count the votes that are cast in the primaries a couple of times before a decision is given out. Even then there will be a dispute about the result.

DIDN'T WANT THAT KIND OF FELLOWS. "Too much promiscuous kissing is bad for young people," declares Judge Ben Lindsey. "It robs juvenile life and gaiety of its wholesomeness and is a grave threat to high moral standards.

"Things that would have been shocking a few years ago are now regarded as virtues and lack of them is liable to make one a social outcast.

"Some college coeds were decorating their frat house for Christmas when one of the girls asked the head of the decorating committee:

"Aren't we going to have any mistletoe this year?" "No," replied the other. "I've found that the fellows who need it aren't worth a hang."

The member of congress from Minnesota who defeated Mr. Volstead of act fame because Volstead was not as dry as he was, was burned to death in a cottage in the woods of Minnesota last week. Mr. Volstead is still living, so politically things might happen.

A woman with 13 children boarded a western train and gave the conductor one ticket for the whole crowd. "Eightpence," said the gardener. "Too much," she said. "What is the price of this little one?" "Fourpence," was the reply.

"All right. I'll buy it," and paid on the spot. Then she added, "Don't cut it now. I'll call for it this day fortnight."

TODAY'S STORYETTE

A certain subject was suspected of being half-witted and the M.D. was putting him through a mental test. Doctor: "Now if you were passing a house where the curtains were drawn and you saw a man whom you knew to be a doctor go in hurriedly and a little while later a preacher entered, and a few moments later an undertaker drove up to the door, what would you surmise had happened in that house?"

The boy grinned sheepishly, scratched his left foot against his shin and replied: "Well, sir, I would think they had a still in there."

"The boy is perfectly sane," snapped the doctor.

Root Formula Wins Friends For World Court Adherence

American Debate On Subject Shows Strong Belief That Senate Action Will Be Favorable Though Some Opinions Dissent

American adherence to the World Court can always be counted upon to produce spirited editorial discussion in the papers of the nation. The "Root Formula," which must pass the acid test of senatorial approval at some perhaps not too distant date, is the present bone of contention.

"The new protocol provides a method by which an American claim of interest is to be filed and discussed prior to an advisory opinion by the Court," explains the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE, which, continuing, says: "It also provides that in case of failure to agree on such a question the United States may withdraw 'without any imputation of unfriendliness to co-operate generally for peace and good will.' The new protocol has now been endorsed by the 40 adhering nations. The last word will rest with the United States Senate," concludes The Chronicle. It is this "last word" which is awaited with intense interest by the editorial writers.

The majority of the predictions by the papers of the country, basing their opinions on their understanding of the sentiment of the people, of the United States, is that this word will be "yes." Says the ST. LOUIS DAILY GLOBE-DEMOCRAT: "The Senate cannot stultify itself in the face of the world by rejecting a protocol which gives it all that it sought in its reservations, and which is a distinctive concession from all the nations to the United States." The BUFFALO EVENING NEWS estimates the events for which the Court would involve "the widest proposed departure from our traditional policy of strong national individualism that has ever been contemplated."

Considering that the joining of the Court would involve "the widest proposed departure from our traditional policy of strong national individualism that has ever been contemplated," the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL says that "for this reason, therefore, the American people expect the Senate to be scrupulously careful in reaching its final decision as to whether the Root formula definitely and unmistakably meets the demands of the five reservations it attached to its resolution of adherence in 1923."

The little home of Paul Revere still stands in North Square, Boston. Many American school children grow up with the idea that Paul Revere was a sort of mythical person, created by some poet's imagination. Nothing could be farther from the truth, for he was a very practical man. He was jack-of-all-trades—an artist, an engraver, an iron mender, a cooper, a Grand Master of a Masonic Lodge, and a Dentist. This vessel, an artisan and famous horseman who furnished the copper and brass for the frigate Constitution, noble "Old Ironsides," which still lies at her pier in Charlestown Navy Yard, just across the river from the old North End of Boston.

THE PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN affirms that "The Senate, which voted by 76 to 17 in January, 1926, to enter the court, can fail to accept the settlement only by complete repudiation of its previous stand."

AS to the Root protocol itself, the ASHVILLE TIMES says that "Senator Stimson of Virginia, author of the reservation which caused all the debate, is ready to accept the Root revision of it," being "satisfied that American rights concerning advisory opinions from the court are fully protected in the Root formula."

THE BALTIMORE SUN'S opinion is that "it is Mr. Elihu Root's distinction to have provided the formula by means of which mere stand offish objection has evolved into a workable legal practice, and a rhetorical negative has been transformed into positive terms."

The WHEELING INTELLIGENCER considers "the Root plan is far to every public interest of the United States in every way" and "not nearly so binding technically or morally, as the Kellogg anti-war treaties," says the RICHMOND NEWS-LEADER. "The revised protocol that includes 'Root Formula' is just in all its terms, binding America to nothing she would not be compelled to do in the name of international comity and justice, and giving her the fullest liberty of action if she thinks the court interferes with her legitimate free action."

"The whole purpose of the Root formula," as the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE puts it, "is to come to a compromise between the two World Court members and certain of the reservations of the Senate relative to the handing down of advisory opinions in international disputes." The BANGOR DAILY COMMERCIAL quotes the jurists who framed the formula as believing "that the provisions as framed meet the contentions of both sides and that they will survive any test that may be made of them."

Interpreting the attitude of the administration from the events that have taken place, the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE says: "Happily, the new administration is not only concerned in securing our adherence to the World Court, but has the courage openly to indicate its approval of the protocol before it is submitted to the Senate."

The fact that Elihu Root, former secretary of state, and regarded as a foremost jurist in this country, has aided in drafting the amendment and has approved it," according to the WASHINGTON STAR, "doubtless will have weight in deciding the issue in this country. Before Mr. Root went to Europe to take part in redrafting the statutes of the Court, he was in consultation with the President and the secretary of state," notes the Star, which, however, believes the amendment "will be given the most careful scrutiny by the Senate, and is likely to lead to much debate in that body."

"Ten years have served to temper extremist opposition," remarks the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL. "But eighty-four of them have not been able to leave Mr. Root behind the times," and the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS calls attention to the fact that "the Permanent Court of International Justice is an American conception and owes its existence largely to the Senate."

OVER THE ROCK AND OUT!

"Don't blame you one mite," declared the stranger. "After all his affairs are our business, if they don't happen to be yours. He hasn't much of a heart, as you found out for yourself, and a few of us can depend on his friendship."

"Did you overhear Uncle Praying Mantis remark that he had dined on his cousin," asked Peter curiously.
The gay stranger winked at the boy.
"Bet your life I did, and that is one reason why I didn't come out into the open until the old fellow had taken himself off. I hope I am no coward, but after all, there is no sense in running straight into danger. And believe me, young fellow, he would have gobbled me up in a second if I had happened to run into his trap. It wouldn't have mattered to him at all that I was a kinsman of his as I am, although I hate to admit it. Thank goodness we can choose our friends, but we can't do much about our relatives, can we?"

Peter laughed and shook his head.
Then the boy laughed louder at the queer antics of the gay fellow who was nodding his head in time to a cheery tune he was humming. Suddenly the gay stranger turned to Peter.

"The sun is bright, the breeze is sweet. Why waste time longer in talking about anyone so disagreeable as Uncle Praying Mantis? Let's hope neither one of us ever runs into him unexpectedly."

"Do come out from behind that rock," pleaded Peter. "I'd like to see a little more of you for the glimpse I have reminds me strongly of someone I once knew. For a second I can't quite remember who it was, but I think I will in a second."

A hop, skip and jump and the fellow was over the rock in a hurry.
"I'd do anything to oblige you,
friends," chirped he. "Take a good

McCASLIN SPEAKS TODAY AT ROTARY

Gives Masterful And Timely Address On "The Constitution"

Attorney Wylie McCaslin of this city delivered a most scholarly and masterful address when he spoke at the New Castle Rotary club meeting in The Castleton today. Mr. McCaslin spoke on "The Constitution" and it was a most timely address since this is Constitution Week.

He told the club members of the different checks that the president of the nation has upon congress, and how the congress can restrict certain acts of the president. Considerable time was spent in discussing the merits of the country's highest court of appeals, the supreme court.

Attorney McCaslin spoke in favor of the court, although he mentioned that some sternly oppose it. He paid tribute to the courage and wisdom of the makers of the constitution inasmuch as they provided such a court and even went so far as to voluntarily lay restraints upon themselves.

The speaker, in remarking how broad the great instrument proved to be, said that during the past 140 years only nine amendments have been added to it.

Youth Caught In Possession Of Auto

Faces Serious Charges As A Result Before Alderman J. Lee Cooper

About 1:30 a. m. Sunday, George Gunnett, Theodore Gunnett and Dewey Glass reported to the police that the Whippet Coupe of George Gunnett had been stolen from in front of the Glass house, 823 Lathrop street during the morning.

As they were leaving, they met Motorcycle Officer Richards, who told of a car of the description mentioned as having been stolen, being on Cunningham avenue.

The young men hurried to that district and Motorcycle Officer Richards followed after going into police station to report. As the owner and other young men approached the car, they saw Henry Ruhr at the rear of the machine. When he saw them, he jumped into the car and drove away, with these other young men following them in the Glass car. They had stopped the other car as Motorcycle Officer Richards came upon the scene and placed Ruhr under arrest.

Ruhr, who only recently got into trouble by turning in false fire alarms, was removed to the city jail this morning. He was taken before Alderman J. Lee Cooper, where he was charged with operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner. In default of bail, he was placed in the county jail to await a hearing on Thursday morning at ten o'clock.

Hospital Fund

Workers To Meet

Will Make Report This Evening At Hospital Of Campaign

A meeting of the workers in the recent drive of the New Castle hospital for funds with which to meet the expenses of charity work done by that institution will be held this evening at the hospital for the purpose of compiling the final result of the campaign for funds.

Final reports of all agencies engaged in the solicitation of funds will also be made at this time. No report has been compiled since the meeting on last Friday evening and the result is not yet known, but those in charge are confident that the result will be quite satisfactory.

Although weather conditions interfered to some extent in the sale of tags on Saturday, yet the result is expected to prove quite interesting and a nice sum of money reported as having been secured for the hospital through that medium.

New Castle Kiwanians will hear something out of the usual when William Wheeler, one of the members of Lawrence county's delegation to the international scout jamboree at Birkenhead, England, will relate the summer's trip. "Going to and coming from the jamboree" will be his subject.

PROOF POSITIVE

The bus inspector was still arguing with the irate woman, although the vehicle was long ago out of sight.

"But I say that bus does go to Finchley," she repeated for the tenth time.

"I'm sorry to argue, madam," replied the inspector, "but that bus is going to Victoria."

"Then why does it say Finchley on the notice-board?"

She inspector sighed. He had already explained so often that Finchley was at the other end of the route.

"Well, madam, there was a big notice on the bus about Swiss milk, but it doesn't go to Switzerland," he said, goaded at last to sarcasm.

NEW CASTLE

OUR CASTLE

by The Woman's Club — Organized in 1889.

"GOD COULDN'T BE EVERYWHERE, SO HE MADE MOTHERS."
In this proverb, even the pagan recognizes in the mother, a God appointed guardian of the race.

Our own city knows no greater need than just such guardianship or mothering—for our homes, for our schools, for our recreations and for our public housekeeping. To aid such work is the aim of this column.

HOME-MAKERS EXPOSITION
For months past members of the Woman's Club with other women of western Pennsylvania have been reading of the exposition all this time in the making which is to give a practical demonstration during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week of what women themselves may do to make home attractive regardless of their economic circumstances.

This exposition is to be held in Pittsburgh, centering in the south side high school, the south side market house and the immediate vicinity. It is under the general direction of Mrs. John M. Phillips, chairman of the home department of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women. In this effort Mrs. Phillips has aimed high and has been assisted in the work which such a stupendous effort entails, by club women of the southwestern district.

Making Over a Dilapidated House
Perhaps the most appealing part of this exposition will be the house which has been transformed from its former disreputable condition into a tasteful, attractive home at a minimum expenditure of money. It has required work, of course, and this has been contributed in large part by the club women of the Pittsburgh district, who have cleaned, papered and performed much other work with their own hands.

The debris of old cans and other rubbish outside the house has been replaced by flower beds neatly arranged. The fact that the house is a double one has made it possible to present the contrast as only one part of the building has been made over.

Mrs. Sippel To Be Present
Mrs. John F. Sippel, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the guest of honor and make an address. This is of special interest to members of the Woman's Club, as it has the honor of being one of the hostess clubs to whose special invitation Mrs. Sippel's presence is due.

Many Members to Attend
Already 15 to 20 members of the Woman's Club have signified their intention of attending this exposition and the president, Mrs. W. A. Pond, urges any who can to arrange additional car loads. The directions are to drive out Carson street to Twelfth street, where the South high school will be found.

dively masculine occupations left. Perhaps the shoe is about to be put on the other foot. A news item from New York says a German young man has been serving as a maid in various New York homes for the past four years. The young man has now put on his male attire and returns to Germany with money ahead. If women can take over all of men's jobs, perhaps men can make a successful invasion of the feminine domain.

WHAT YOU'RE GOING TO DO
Hundreds of young men and women are now entering college. Some are going for the first time, and others are starting on their final year. Many are worried and a little at sea because they have not been able to make up their minds just what field they want to enter when they are through school. They don't seem to have a strong natural bent for anything. They are not sure which line of work will make them happiest. All of this is just waste worry.

Their full effort should not be given to the finding of a suitable line. "Majors" may or may not be important. Their full effort should go to the development of the habit of study, of concentration. The beginning of a life-long habit of self-education is a life-long habit of self-education. A vast more important than the quick determination of the job you are going to hunt for and accept.

LEARNING TO STUDY
The principal thing you can learn in school, especially in college, is to learn to study, to learn to think, to learn where to look for what you want to know. Training for a job can come later. Give your thought this year in school to training yourself to use your mind.

WHAT IS MEN'S WORK
There is much discussion about the invasion of men's field of work by women. There are almost no exclu-

Improve Section Of Ben Franklin Route In State
(Special To The News)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 16.—The Benjamin Franklin highway, U. S. route No. 422, will be improved the entire distance from Indiana to the state line at New Bedford upon completion of the 10.72 miles in Armstrong county, which is under construction between Indiana and Kittanning. Division Engineer T. C. Frame, Franklin, is supervising the work for the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

Completion of the Armstrong county mileage will open a new route to the northwest, with connections from the William Penn highway at Armstrong to Youngstown, O. The best available route at present takes the motorist over U. S. route No. 118 and traffic route No. 85 from Indiana to Kittanning, which appears on the map as two sides of a triangle. The roadway under construction is the third side. It traverses a mountainous section through Plum Creek, Manor and Kittanning townships, beginning at Elderton, near the Armstrong-Indiana line. Modern engineering and design will result in a minimum of curvature and grade.

Air Pollution In Pittsburgh Studied
(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16.—To aid in the study of air pollution in this section, the government weather bureau here plans to install a thermoelectric pyrheliometer at the bureau headquarters on the roof of the Oliver building.

Dr. Herbert H. Kimball, in charge of solar radiation investigation at the United States Weather Bureau at Washington, will come here to personally supervise the installation of the pyrheliometer which indicates the percentage of dust and smoke in the air.

At the present time, the Mellon Institute is endeavoring to discover to what extent dust and smoke in the air interfere with the penetration into the city of the health-giving ultra-violet sun rays.

Governor Roosevelt Urges State Development Policy

(Associated Press News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Violent state opposition to development of water power sites in New York by private interests loomed anew today following the outspoken declaration of Governor Franklin Roosevelt that he will exert all possible efforts to obtain public control of the state's Hydro-Electric Power.

In a sharply worded statement issued from his town house here, Governor Roosevelt severely criticized the recent sale of the St. Lawrence River Hydro-Electric Power site to the gigantic power interests backed by J. P. Morgan.

Declaring the recent mergers of public utility and power companies made a policy of state development more imperative than ever, the governor asserted that he intended to take action to try to put through the legislature again the state develop-

Two Youths Die As New Plane Drops 150 Feet

POSTORIA, O., Sept. 16.—Two Postoria youths died Sunday of injuries received late Sunday, when a home-made monoplane which they were flying crashed to the ground.

The dead are Melvin Hawkins, 17, senior at Postoria High School, and Michael Kimes, 23, an apprentice bricklayer.

Internal injuries proved fatal to Kimes, who died in Postoria Hospital at 6:30 a. m. Sunday.

Hawkins died of a fractured skull and internal injuries at 10:30 Sunday morning.

Harold Hickerson, owner and builder of the plane, is reported near collapse as a result of the accident.

He told police that Hawkins, a student aviator, had agreed not to take his newly built plane off the ground. The crash came when the plane, at an altitude of 150 feet, slipped while making too steep a bank. It crashed into a corn field near the local airport.

Kimes was thrown clear of the wreckage, while Hawkins was caught in the plane.

The plane had never been flown before.

"Splitting Molecule" Is Great Discovery In Scientific World

Professor George Whitmore,
Northwestern Chemistry
Head Lauds New Discovery

"Splitting Of Molecule" Was Discovered By Dr. K. F.
Bohnhoeffer In Germany

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—In an interview today Professor George F. Whitmore, head of the Northwestern University Chemistry department, explained the formation and structure of the hydrogen molecule and its relation to the discovery of "splitting" the molecule.

The discovery was made by Dr. K. F. Bohnhoeffer and demonstrated recently before the American Chemical society in convention at Minneapolis.

"Although the hydrogen molecule has been known and studied for a hundred years," said the professor, "it was not until recently that scientists realized that the electron revolved on a certain path and direction around the proton of a hydrogen atom is composed of a proton and an electron, different electrical charges and we now realize that the direction of an electron may be changed."

"Now if we take two atoms of hydrogen and could turn one upside down," explained Whitmore, "we would simply reverse the direction of the atom's electron and the result is parahydrogen, as was demonstrated Bohnhoeffer."

Molecule Divided

"All this was prophesied and well known," he said, "but it was left to the young German scientist," and the professor, "to prove the mathematicians were correct. We have known for some time that the hydrogen molecule could be divided and Bohnhoeffer worked out the method. It is not, however, a splitting of the hydrogen atom, as was erroneously reported at first."

Professor Whitmore further explained that the method of mathematicians in solving the double nature of the hydrogen electron orbit is comparable to the discovery of the planet neptune by Urbain Jean Joseph Leverrier, of the celestique technique, by sheer mathematics. Leverrier calculated the size and orbit of neptune, although he never saw it.

When Galilei, of the Berlin observatory the French mathematician's computations, pointed his telescope at a designated spot in the heavens, he saw the hitherto unknown planet. Leverrier's figures were less than one degree from perfect.

"I do think, however," said Whitmore, "that Bohnhoeffer's demonstration was marvelous and he should receive all credit for it."

Numerous Accidents Reported To Police

Two People Are Reported As Having Been Hit By Machines

Accidents reported to the police over the week-end were quite numerous. At least two people were hit by machines but fortunately escaped serious injury.

Charles L. Cripps of 316 Glenmore boulevard reported today that he was enroute south on North Mercer street in front of Judge Martin's residence with his lights burning, as a man on each side of the street was picking up leaves and placing them in a city truck, which was in the center of the street. Mr. Cripps thought the man on the side he was passing had noticed that he was coming but a Mr. Michaels of East Washington street was barely touched by his right front fender. He did not appear to be hurt.

Andrew Shellock of 103 Charter street reported Saturday that he was going south on Mill street at Home street when a man walked out on Mill street in front of his machine and was knocked down. He was apparently uninjured.

G. C. Brand of 225 Boyles avenue reported that he was enroute south on Norris way and making a left hand turn onto Washington street as a car bearing an Ohio license and going east on Washington street ran into and damaged his car.

H. Gill Brown of New Castle R. D. No. 4 reported that he was going east on North Mill street as a machine bearing Pennsylvania license C9-967 was going in the same direction in front of his car, and stopped. The result was that the machines were in a collision. Some damage was done.

William A. Boalick of 727 Court street reported that he was going west on East Long avenue and had stopped for the red light, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license C14-120 going east on Long avenue, ran around another car and hit and damaged his machine.

Walter McConahy, of East New Castle, reported that he had his bicycle parked in front of 349 E. Washington street, when a car bearing Pennsylvania license 613-388 came along the curb and hit and damaged the front wheel of his bicycle.

Glen C. Harpe of 1930 Maryland avenue reported that he was enroute east on Washington street and turning into Maryland avenue as the car of John V. Soules, of 617 Raymond street, going west on Washington street, hit and damaged his car.

Nathan Knight, of 404 Vine street, reported that he was driving a truck of the Chapman Dairy company east on the viaduct, where the painters have erected a block to control traffic and that a car driven by C. Collinswood, of Janisville, Ohio, ran into the back end of the truck, doing some damage.

Clare McKibben, of 1209 1/2 East Washington street, reported that he was driving the machine of Matt Davis, of 1211 East Washington street, in front of the Mather Bros. store when the car of William Mort, of R. D. No. 3, going in the same direction, ran into the rear of his machine, some damage was done.

Arrest 35 Drivers In Wampum Boro

Violation Of Traffic Light Regulations Is Charged; Drivers Are Fined

Violations of the red light at the Wampum end of the Wampum viaduct have been so numerous of late, according to the borough authorities that on Sunday, September 15 a campaign was waged against motorists who ran the red light.

Constables Martin and Kelley arrested some thirty-five violators and Squire Glover fined them $5.00 each. The borough authorities intend to enforce the red light rule at the viaduct and while they do not wish to annoy motorists with arrest, they will be forced to do so, they say, unless more attention is paid.

COLORED MEN FIGHT AND ARE ARRESTED

Detective John Young and Officers Augustine and Lester were called to the west end of Friendship street Saturday night, where a fight was said to be in progress, found James Anderson and Solomon Rispas, colored gentlemen, embroiled in a battle. They were arrested and on Sunday morning paid fines of $10 each.

Will Study Plan Of School Financing

State Senate Committee Is To Look Into Plan Now Followed In State

Senator George T. Weingartner has returned from Harrisburg where on Saturday he attended the organization meeting of the commission to study the present plan of financing the public schools and related matters authorized by the act of May 8, 1928.

The purpose of the commission is to investigate the present financial plan, laid down by the Edmunds act. Each biennium the cost of financing schools in the state has shown an alarming increase and among the members of the General Assembly it has been felt that the Edmunds act should be scrutinized with a view to providing some adjustment in the matter of school appropriations.

Dr. John A. H. Keith state superintendent of Public Instruction is the chairman of the commission, being designated by the act. The commission elected Dr. James M. Rule as secretary.

The commission is composed of the following members: Gov. J. B. Fisher, appointed, Washington, Senator of Scranton, Pa., Rev. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college and James A. Connelly of Ludlow, Pa. Senator Augustus F. Daix president pro tempore of the State Senate appointed Senators George T. Weingartner, Clarence J. Buckman of Bucks county and Warren R. Roberts of Bethlehem.

Aaron B. Hess, speaker of the House appointed, Thomas B. Wilson of Bradford, C. Jay Goodenough of Emporium and Jacob Mathay of Philadelphia.

The commission will meet from time to time and will make a detailed report to the session of 1931.

Mysteries Of The Atom

By S. S. MYERS

The smallest thing in creation is the atom which is also a thing of mystery. It is the basis of all matter yet a microscopic universe in itself—a miniature solar system with a central nucleus around which a family of electrons revolve like planets around the sun.

Measured in terms of inches an atom has a diameter of a hundred millionths of an inch, but inside of it are many smaller things. In the very center is the nucleus which is made up of particles called protons; these are charged with positive electricity. Revolving around the nucleus with tremendous speed, are other particles called electrons which are negatively charged.

Two positive charges repel each other and so do two negatively charged objects. The reason the negatively charged electrons do not repel each other in the atom is because the positively charged nucleus prevents them and hurries them around itself. But if an outside positively charged object is applied the electrons fly to it.

But the nucleus is invulnerable in its central mass in the atom, and it is this mass that must be penetrated before science can crack the nucleus. The question what will happen if the heart of the atom can be disrupted and the tremendous power which actuates the rotation of those tiny planets released? It is generally agreed that the result would be spectacular for the power of one tiny nucleus is equivalent to over two million times its weight in dynamite!

It is very likely that the world will soon find out just what will happen when an atom is disrupted, for a definite attempt to crack open the atom and reveal its mysteries is now being made at the Carnegie Institute at Washington. Drs. G. Breit and M. A. Tuve of the institute's department of terrestrial magnetism have at last produced equipment for this interesting purpose.

Ten Herbs, Famous New Medicine.

MRS. ROBERT GAMBLE

No wonder Ten Herbs, the new medicine, is such a great success throughout this entire section, for every day reports are received from men and women who tell how they gained blessed relief from such health troubles as stomach, liver, kidney and bowel disorders, by using this famous preparation. Many state that Ten Herbs helped them back to better health after all else tried had failed. The wonderful natural ingredients of this compound also relieve rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness, and have a cleansing, soothing, correcting action on the whole human system. Learn more about Ten Herbs by calling at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington St., this city, where this modern liquid medicine is being introduced.

"I suffered from stomach trouble for years, and although I tried many kinds of medicines, Ten Herbs was the only one that gave me satisfactory relief," said Mrs. Robert Gamble, 712 Oakwood Street, Pittsburgh, Pa. "It proved to be just the medicine my system needed. The slightest kind of food caused gas and bloating. I did not get proper nourishment from what I ate, and finally my system became badly run-down. I lost weight, and was on the verge of a nervous breakdown. My liver was very inactive and I was always troubled with constipation. Dizzy spells and headaches would bother me for days at a time. My complexion was sallow. At times I felt very much discouraged, as it seemed that life was hardly worth living."

"Ten Herbs put my stomach in such good condition that I could eat anything without having distress afterward. I was no longer troubled with gas or shortness of breath. I could sleep soundly, as my nerves were stronger. My liver started to work properly, and bilious spells, headaches and dizziness became things of the past. Constipation was ended. I gained in health and strength every day, and before long I felt like a new woman. Even friends remarked about the change for the better that had come over me. I will praise Ten Herbs every chance I get."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington St., this city, and is sold at all drug and medicine stores throughout this entire section.

Council Opens Bids For Sewer

Members of council met today and bids for a storm sewer across Carlisle street from Euclid to Sumner avenue were opened. One bid was far below the city engineer's estimate. The bids were referred to committee.

The city engineer estimated the work should cost $375,000 and Smith & McQuilston, Inc., put in a price of $220.

Other bidders: Mulcahy Bros., $390 and Woods & Golder, $450.

Now These Are the Facts

Eight years ago, in March, the City of New Castle purchased a piece of property containing about 38 acres in the Seventh Ward from Marcus Feuchtwanger. Many years ago the State demanded that every municipality in the Commonwealth provide itself with a modern sewage disposal plant. James A. Gardner, who was then City Solicitor for 30 years and whose integrity and legal ability were never questioned, advised the city that the mandate of the State must be obeyed. His opinion has been justified by the fact that every city in the State has submitted to the mandate and almost all of them have already built or provided for sewage disposal plants. Perhaps 30 years ago New Castle condemned Shinn's Island for its plant, but the cost was so high and the engineering difficulties so great that that location was abandoned. In 1921 the City began condemnation proceedings to take land of the Pennsylvania Railroad on the Shenango river, but this site was abandoned because the railroad company prepared to enjoin the taking and because the site was found to be so high that any plant there would require that all sewage be pumped the year round. Fuller and McCintock, the leading engineers in the country in the construction and designing of such plants, were retained by the Council in 1921 and after an extensive survey they reported to the new Council in the early spring of 1922 that there was but one available site within a practical distance from the city where a plant might be constructed that would not require all-year-round pumping of sewage. The cost of pumping a daily volume of sewage averaging 4,000,000 gallons was an item to be considered.

This one available site was the land of Marcus Feuchtwanger, who had purchased it in 1909 at sheriff's sale through his agent, A. J. Sonstein. Mr. Sonstein bid for it at the sale $3,350.00 and turned it over at once to Mr. Feuchtwanger, but the sale was subject to two mortgages, one for $2,000 and one for $1,350. These mortgages continued on the property and Mr. Feuchtwanger paid the interest on them and finally paid the mortgages off when the city bought the land, so that the property cost Mr. Feuchtwanger $2,350, his bid at the sheriff's sale, and $9,622, the principal of the mortgages, and interest on the mortgages of $7,946.16, so that Mr. Feuchtwanger had in the property at least $20,917.16, and owned it for 13 years.

Upon receiving the recommendation of Fuller and McCintock the Council directed Mr. Gardner to see what arrangement could be made with Mr. Feuchtwanger to purchase the land, or enough of it to build the plant. The engineers advised that 10 acres along the river and a roadway back to it would perhaps be enough for the immediate needs of the city. Mr. Feuchtwanger objected to selling a part of the land only, because there would not be enough left for any industrial use to be made of it, and the land was valuable only for industrial use, and for the further reason that the part left would be shut off from the river and water supply and would be depreciated by having a sewage disposal plant immediately adjacent to it. Finally Mr. Gardner got a price, $41,954, from Mr. Feuchtwanger for the whole land and the Council agreed to buy it for that amount. It is true that only about eight acres of it are now actually used for the disposal plant, but the balance of the land furnishes ample place for the city to dispose of the sludge and waste from the plant for many years and also provides a place to erect another garbage disposal plant when it will no longer be economical to haul the garbage from the southern part of the city to Sampson street.

At about the same time that the city bought this land it was necessary to condemn certain land immediately adjacent to this land to provide for the widening of Montgomery Avenue and for an approach to the new M. J. Jackson bridge. The greater part of the land so taken was the property of M. J. Scanlon. The city only took a strip wide enough to build the road, but paid damages on the whole of Mr. Scanlon's property, what was taken and what was left. These damages were assessed by viewers. At numbers 83 and 84 March term, 1923, in the local court, Mr. Scanlon was awarded and paid at No. 83 March Term 1923, and at No. 84 1923 for 3,185 square feet of land, or not quite three-quarters of an acre; that is, the viewers awarded Mr. Scanlon for less than three-quarters of an acre right next to the Feuchtwanger property $23,303, and the testimony in the case placed the land as worth anywhere from $2,000 to $4,000 an acre.

In 1923 the City extended the main sewer from Wayne street to the new sewage disposal site and in doing so laid a 4-foot concrete sewer across the lands of Scanlon and Blanchard, next to the Feuchtwanger property. No land was taken, but the owners both claimed damages because the sewer passed over their land. Mr. W. K. Huggs represented the Blanchard heirs and after hearing testimony of experts the Council settled with the Blanchards for $1,900, although they claimed much more. Mr. Scanlon was represented by R. K. Affken and claimed such large damages that no settlement has ever been made with him. These values placed on land in the vicinity of the sewage disposal plant by viewers and expert witnesses establish pretty definitely the real value of the land purchased by the city from Mr. Feuchtwanger eight years ago.

Five years ago, at the November election, Mr. Gardner prepared and submitted to the voters a bond issue to build the sewage disposal plant and the voters approved it by a large majority. The plant was built in 1925 and is now operating perfectly. The State Department of Health advises that it is the best plant in the state. Voters who do not know the facts ought to visit the plant and satisfy themselves.

When Mr. Horton was in council it became apparent that the East Street location was not a proper one for the Central Fire Station. The Fire Chief found upon investigation that a location on Jefferson Street would provide the quickest and easiest means of access to all parts of the city. Mr. Horton obtained price on the garage now occupied by Foster Brothers, but Mr. Horton died and the plan to move was dropped. About three years ago the trouble became acute. The hook and ladder truck could hardly get out of the East Street barn and could get back only by going up Mercer Street and turning into North, so that it was necessary to keep a no-parking zone at that corner at all times. The majority of fires were in the industrial districts, and to get to these the whole department had to make a run the full length of the business district on Washington Street. Every time there was a fire the lives and property of citizens were endangered and often the equipment was injured. A new and modern building was built on South Jefferson Street and the result has been most satisfactory. Any voter who doubts the wisdom of the move should visit the new building before reaching a judgment. And he should incidentally see the amount and character of the land the city got there for $21,500. He will observe that there is yet enough land to build an adequate building for storage and for the Street Department, and if he inquires as to price of adjoining land he will know whether the city made a good investment.

Incidentally, this transaction was completed three years ago, and in spite of statements to the contrary the Knox truck, now more than 15 years old, is housed there and responds to all fires according to schedule. It has never been taken out of service, as has been alleged.

New Castle depends on the same bridges to cross the Neshannock that served her before the time of automobiles. Some of these bridges have been rebuilt, but none of them have provided any new space for traffic. There is a great public demand for new ways to cross this stream, that demand has been growing for several years, and anyone who drives east or west across the city on a Saturday night realizes the reason for the demand. Three years ago the City joined in this demand for new bridges to be built by the County Commissioners, for the bridges must be built by the County and Council has nothing to say about it. The Commissioners then in office promised to build some bridges if the City would have a comprehensive survey of traffic made to determine where bridges were needed and which was needed first. This survey was made, but in the meantime a new Board of Commissioners had gone into office. The survey recommended three bridges across the Neshannock: one at Lawrence Street, one at North Street and one at a high level into Croton. The City at once provided by ordinance for the approach to these bridges. To widen Lawrence Street from 32 to 50 feet would cost less than $4,000. The approach at North Street was about 60 feet, owned entirely by the city, and the approach on the hill for the viaduct was provided by condemnation, but the damages have never been assessed. The Council went to the new Commissioners with the survey, and with the approaches provided, and asked for one bridge in 1928. The Commissioners agreed to build the North Street bridge, but required that the approach be widened to 80 feet. This required the taking of the Hodge property and a jury awarded for the house and lot, 28x110 feet, the price of $22,500.

That is all that the bridge costs the treasury of the City of New Castle. Last year the City built a large

For two years the City of New Castle has, by its Council, refused absolutely to be a party in any way to the establishment of any other system of time than that established by law. Several years ago the Council held the time for its regular meetings at nine a. m. Eastern Standard time by ordinance, and the City has consistently set all hearings, made all advertisements and done all other business by Eastern Standard Time, solely because that is the paramount law of the State, and the City has obeyed the law. The clock in the Council Chamber remains always on Eastern Standard Time. The fact is that the large corporations having plants in the City have adopted daylight saving time, and the Council has no power to stop them.

The Council disclaims any responsibility for certain plans having ceased to do business in New Castle. The Council does not disclaim responsibility for having tried at all times, while I have been a member of it, to improve the living conditions of the people who live here, who must live here and who want to live here. The Voter who remembers the City and its condition eight years ago should drive about it now and observe what changes have been made and then ask himself whether he would like to change back, before he condemns the 12 men who have sat in council while I was a member of it.

storm sewer along the side of Moravia Street. To do this it was necessary to take out all the curb and sidewalk on the west side of the street. When it came to replacing the curb it seemed to be advisable to back several feet in order to widen the street when the work could be done at a very much less cost than it could be done at another time. If it was good thing to widen the street, it was economical to do it when about half of the work was going to be done anyway to put in the sewer. Moravia Street is the main street between the center of town and the Mahoning Avenue Viaduct, which was built upon an order of the Public Service Commission at a cost of about a half million dollars. Before Moravia Street was widened there was a very narrow passageway for traffic from Long Avenue to old Gardner Avenue. Moravia Street is also the main street from the center of town to West Pittsburgh and the E. & O. Junction, where the newspaper has been telling us 1,300 railroad men are employed. Putting a fence down the center of that highway would not help those 1,300 railroad men very much and would not bring many new industries to the city, for that street is necessarily used by the men who drive to and from both tin mills. Any person among the thousands who used the Mahoning Avenue Viaduct yesterday and drove over Moravia Street with a clear way for traffic and traffic were caught in the jam of Mahoning Avenue will realize that this improvement ought to be extended to the other side of the expensive viaduct and Mahoning Avenue widened, too.

Of course, the people in the Sixth Ward know how long they were neglected and how bad West Washington Street really was. Whether the paving of that street was premature, or not, it is a fact that those who have not driven over it much should drive over it now before condemning Council for remedying a situation that had become intolerable to a very considerable portion of the good people of this city. A Council that will neglect one set of people or one section of the city will just as easily neglect another if its own selfish interest or its own personal opinion has some other idea in mind.

Cascade Street is another place that has been very good citizens, and at the same time it is the only street in town that furnishes a means of getting around the city without going through it. Cleveland and Detroit paid millions of dollars just to get such a road around those cities. New Castle has such a road, if it will only preserve and improve it. If nothing is done until the street is completely built up, the damages of improving it will be prohibitive. The traffic survey, conducted by trained engineers, recommended the immediate improvement of this street, because it starts at the State Highway to Ellwood, crosses the State Highway to Butler, the State Highway to Harrisburg and Slippery Rock and thence runs to the Neshannock Creek and joins a road across to Euclid Avenue, which runs to the Washington Road. And then the improvement of Cascade Street didn't cost $25,000 to $30,000. The voters at No. 101 December Term, 1928, awarded a total of costs and damages of $6,831.91, and the City has compromised some of the damages so as to reduce this amount materially. Mr. Voter, go out and look at this improvement.

It has been said that the City has not spent a cent on the Wolf Swamp, which the late J. J. Dear so thoroughly gave land to the City. Immediately after that land was given to the City the City condemned and paid for all of the land on Taylor Street that abutted on the swamp to make a means of access to it when it should become a park and while it was being filled up. For years the City has been filling up the swamp and now it is about in condition that something might be done with it if the City can acquire at a reasonable price or otherwise a tract of property that provides a piece of land, Mr. Voter, before you form any opinion as to how Council has managed it.

For two years the City of New Castle has, by its Council, refused absolutely to be a party in any way to the establishment of any other system of time than that established by law. Several years ago the Council held the time for its regular meetings at nine a. m. SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION IMPORTANT

In the Election of four members to the School Board you must realize the extreme care that need be taken—First comes the Children's Health, this necessitates that a Doctor be a member of the School Board—Second comes their Education, naturally we select a woman who has been a successful teacher for our Board—Last but not least we think of our Pocketbook or Taxes. We therefore realize only too well that we must have a successful Engineer and a Contractor. This combination cannot but help lower our Taxes. Think These Facts Over.

Corporations Drawn Into Tariff Battle

Two Hundred American Industrial Corporations Asked To Submit Profits Reports

Democratic-Insurgent Coalition Active; Will Get Information From Income Tax Returns

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON, International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The names of 200 American industrial corporations, benefitting under the tariff, were forwarded to the treasury department today by the senate for a report on their profits, to be taken from their income tax returns for the years 1922 and 1928. The list was drafted by leaders of the Democratic-Insurgent coalition, which is fighting the new tariff bill. The information, if and when obtained will be used by the coalition leaders to oppose any increase in duties on commodities manufactured by corporations showing substantial profit over the last eight years.

The names of the corporations, on which a report was asked, may be made public during the day. It was learned however that the list included the U. S. Steel corporation, the Bethlehem Steel corporation, the Great Western Sugar Co., the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., and the Aluminum Company of America. All these concerns have been giant money-makers for many years.

May Reveal Salaries. The information asked included a statement of the concern's "profits or losses" and a broad report on its expenditures for labor, materials and machinery. A request was made not only for a report on the total amounts spent for wages or employees but for compensation of officers as well. The treasurer's report if made, may reveal the salaries of such men as

John D. Rockefeller Jr., Charles M. Schwab and other industrialists, who actively head great corporations.

A very ticklish legal question has been raised however, by the senate's action in requesting this information. The treasury already has asked the department of justice might rule the opinion on its right to respond to the senate's command, inasmuch as congress authorized income tax secrecy and only one branch of it ordered the publicity.

Action Not Binding. The belief prevailed that the department of justice might rule the senate's action was not binding on the treasury and that the latter should not respond to the order.

Such a ruling would throw the matter back into the senate, where a resolution still is pending which would give congressional authority for the desired publicity. Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin sponsored the joint resolution but as the house was not in session coalition leaders took a short cut by adopting a simple senate resolution calling for the desired information.

The issue of tariff benefits to trusts and monopolies meanwhile was injected into the senate debate by Senator King (D.) of Utah. He charged the new tariff bill would give giant corporations a greater opportunity for creating monopolies. He warned, too, that some existing corporations, including the United States Steel and the Standard Oil companies, had grown so large the government could no longer control them. He said there was a possibility the people within a few decades would seize the corporations through establishment here of a communist state. He urged a reduction of tariff rates as a means of curbing trusts and of avoiding political revolution.

The senate continued consideration of administrative features with decisions on a number of highly controversial provisions expected during the week. This may include action on the organization of the U. S. tariff commission and a decision on continuing the powers of the President, under the flexible provision to raise or lower duties.

Progress however was low with the senate facing a month or more of debate before the bill will be in sight for initial enactment.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—Just 100 years from the day her grandmother, for whom she is a namesake, set out on a romantic pilgrimage—a honeymoon journey to Niagara Falls—
Mrs. Anna Boyer, of Philadelphia, set out by plane over the same route.
It was a commemoration for Mrs.
Boyer, paying tribute to the woman who has been dead for forty-two years.
In 1829, according to a diary found in a secret drawer in an old desk,
the grandmother, then a radiant young bride, set out on her wedding journey, over rough roads, in a wagon. The diary mentioned all points visited by the bride and Mrs. Boyer planned her 1929 trip to fly over these places in a chartered plane.

It took three weeks for the trip in 1829. It took Mrs. Boyer seven hours by airplane in 1929.

Hoon Proves There Are Fish In Creek

L. S. Hoon, well known sanitary police officer is also a fisherman and he is seeking to establish a record as a fisherman in the streams of this district. On Saturday evening between 5 and 7 o'clock he succeeded in catching 32 chubs, the smallest of which was eight inches in length in the Neshannock creek between East Brook and Wilmington Junction.
This appears to be about the best record so far this season.

The new census will list the unemployed, but probably won't include the six in this office.

WESTMINSTER READY FOR FALL OPENING

Fine Shape For Year

Nearly 600 Students To Enroll In Classes At New Wilmington

As time comes for the opening of Westminster's 77th college year students returning early notice a number of changes and improvements which have been made during the summer months.

The campus walks around Old Main Memorial on the upper portion of the college grounds have been laid, the ground has been graded and the planting of stadium grass mixture will possibly be done this week. Two caricads of powdered peat arrived last week with which to enrich the soil before planting the grass seed.

One of the main artery walks leading from the science hall past the new Robert Audley Browne dormitory to the gymnasium is being laid.
This should be completed by Wednesday at the latest, according to Supervising Architect Malcolm H. White.

The two main office rooms in the conservatory building, used as the temporary college offices for two years have been repainted and will be used as a reception room and main office
by the music department.

George Anderson, janitor at the gymnasium, has given the swimming pool a thorough cleaning and has put in new tile cement on the bottom.
The athletic stock room has been changed to the basement floor in the coach's room, while the athletic coaches have been given part of the first-aid room.

J. E. Oesterling, R. F. Glass and E.
H. Eberle, tree surgeons, are trimming the campus trees and giving treatment to some which have to have hollows filled in with cement.

College employees are converting the carpenter shop in the basement of the science hall into a physical chemistry laboratory for Professor J. George Lutz, acting head of the chemistry department. The laboratory should be completed within two weeks.

All college dormitories girls' dormitory cottages, and other college buildings have been cleaned thoroughly by a large crew of men and women.
Windows have been washed both inside and out. Some new furniture has been installed in the Hillside and in a number of the other buildings.

The last bit of work in Old Main Memorial's completion, that of decorating the arches and ceiling in the tower room, was completed during the summer. A large plaster model of the college seal, placed in the tower room, has been decorated in the college colors.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of college Friday when a total of 575 students, or 25 more than last year's total, are expected to be on hand for first classes.

Educators To Study Schools Of England

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—Plans have been completed for a study of secondary schools in England and the United States to be conducted by a joint committee of educators from the two countries.

The purpose of the study is to promote a better understanding and a more sympathetic relationship between English and American educators.

Fifty-four secondary schools in England, including public, semi-public and private schools, already have agreed to co-operate in the project.
And as soon as a similar list of American secondary schools is selected the collection and correlation of comparative statistics and other material will be begun.

Rhinelanders Hopes For Quiet Divorce

Rhinelanders Family Anxious That Son Kip Get Divorce Without Sensational Case

(International News Service)
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 16.—
Their mystery conference finished, Leonard Kip Rhinelanders and his attorney, Harley A. Harmon of Las Vegas, Nev., today were on their way back to Las Vegas.

Likewise the two New York attorneys who attended the conference,
Leon Jacobus and Curtis Westendorp, have returned east.

Rhinelanders, Harmon and J. J.
Walker, a business associate of Rhine-landers, left for Denver, where they will take a train for Las Vegas.

Although Rhinelanders again denied that the conference here concerned his pending divorce suit which will be tried this fall at Las Vegas, it was generally believed the gathering was held principally on that account.

It is understood that Rhinelanders and his negro wife, Alice Jones Rhine-landers, of New Rochelle, N. Y., are taking all possible precaution to avoid spectacular divorce settlement.
Reports indicated that the conference held behind closed doors here this week-end affected a settlement which will speed the divorce proceedings.

Finds Ordinance Almost Senseless

Short Skirts Held Not Indecent
Nor Liable To Frighten
Horses

(International News Service)
BROOKLYN, N. J., Sept. 16.—Magistrate Raymond Scott opines that the length—or lack of it—of the present-day short skirts is no annoyance to a well behaved horse and so the public spirited activity of the Borough Council seem about to go to waste.

The council passed ordinances preventing any practice, sport or game having a tendency to frighten horses and also other ordinances preventing snowball throwing, stone fights and "indecently garbed men or women."

Magistrate Scott decided there is no use worrying about snowball fights
now and there being no glasshouses in the immediate vicinity, it hasn't occurred to anybody to toss stones about. The councilors, themselves, admitted the ordinances were a bit anticipatory.

A curious public, however, asserted its prerogative and demanded information regarding the horses and indecency exposure.

"Well, if I started to make arrests for short skirts half of the borough's population would be locked up," the Magistrate said. "I guess I'll make arrests only for indecent exposure."
No well bred equine would take offense at a short skirt or a sunbath bathing suit Scott decided so the feminine adjuncts will be safe from molestation.

British Penologist Studies Jails Here

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Conditions in prisons and reformatories in the United States are being studied by E.
Roy Calvert, British penologist and author who was a recent visitor in route to Toronto, Ont., to a conference of the American Prison association.

Calvert is secretary of the National Council for the Abolition of the Death Penalty in Great Britain and said he believed the new government in England will abolish the death penalty. A bill presented to the last parliament for this purpose reached its second reading.

Exhaustive research on crime and punishment and statistical investigation of capital punishment on the continent have been Calvert's greatest service to Penology. He is scheduled to address gatherings in Boston, Philadelphia and Washington before returning to England in the latter part of October.

husband also goes under the name of T. Llewellyn Davies and is the

Twenty States Have Four Cent Gas Tax

Three States Have Six Cent Tax
And Eight Have Five Cent Tax

(Special To The News)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 16.—
Although Pennsylvania has taken steps to reduce its present gasoline tax rate of four cents to three cents,
the change to become effective July 1, 1930, it still stands as one of the twenty states in the country which levy a tax of four cents per gallon, which is double the lowest gasoline tax in the nation, a survey conducted by the American Automobile Association reveals.

The survey reveals that at the present three states impose a tax of six cents per gallon, eight states have a five cent tax, twenty—including Pennsylvania—have a four cent tax.

one collects 3 1/2 cents per gallon, nine levy a tax of three cents, and seven collect a duty of only two cents per gallon.

Except for Missouri, which has passed a constitutional amendment limiting the gasoline tax to two cents
a gallon for a period of ten years, Pennsylvania is cited as the only other state in the union to take steps in favor of the motorist.

California Paper Tells Of Deaths Of Former Local Man And Wife

In the Torrance Herald, at Torrance, California, in the issue of September 5, 1929, an account of the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Peebles, with in a few hours times, is printed. Mr. and Mrs. Peebles were former residents of New Castle, and were well known to many in this city.

The Torrance Herald says in connection with the deaths. The shadow of death fell upon the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Peebles Saturday night and claimed them both within a few hours of one another. Mr. Peebles died at 10:30 p. m. Saturday and Mrs. Peebles was found dead in her bed Sunday morning. She expired about 5 o'clock from a heart attack.

Mr. Peebles had been ill three weeks from a kidney complication. He underwent an operation at the Jared Sidney Torrance Memorial hospital Saturday morning and died at the hospital Saturday evening at 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Peebles had been suffering from a long illness and was confined to her bed when Mr. Peebles became ill. She got up, however, and helped care for her husband until his death. A collapse followed and she went to sleep Saturday evening never to awaken. She had been suffering from a weak heart, and it is thought that this was the cause of her death, following the shock of losing her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Peebles were both 55 years of age and were born in New Castle, Pennsylvania. They came to Torrance about twelve years ago at the time the Torrance Flat Glass Company was built. Mr. Peebles was a glass cutter by trade and worked at the local factory as long as it operated. He was also an interior decorator and gave a good deal of his time in later years to this work.

For the past few years, he has retired from any active work, except the management of his real estate properties. He owned his home at 1629 Cota avenue, Torrance, as well as a duplex adjoining, and two apartments over a group of garages in the rear of the Peebles residence. He was a member of the Elks Lodge and the Knights of Pythias. Mrs. Matilda Peebles was a member of the Central Evangelical church of Torrance.

Mr. and Mrs. Peebles have no children and there were no close relatives near them at the time of their death. They were in almost constant care of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Pernar of Hermosa Beach, life long friends who formerly lived in New Castle. Mr. and Mrs. Pernar have also taken charge of the funeral arrangements. Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Wright, neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Peebles, assisted Mr. and Mrs. Pernar in their sad work of caring for their departed friends.

Mrs. Peebles is survived by three sisters in the East and one of these sisters, Mrs. Stannice Smith of Monaca, Pennsylvania, is expected to arrive in Torrance Friday morning. Mr. Peebles has a cousin, Don Eckles, in South Pasadena and an aunt in Pennsylvania.

While few relatives remain to mourn the loss of the devoted couple, their passing has been a great shock to their hosts of friends in Torrance and throughout this district. Their keen interest in civic development will also be greatly missed.

The memory of their charming personalities and their sterling characters will long remain in the hearts of their friends. Their devotion to each other and the large measure of happiness that was theirs because of this beautiful relationship will long remain as a glowing example of happy married life. While their friends feel the loss of their parting very keenly, they find comfort in the realization that neither of this devoted couple remains to mourn the loss of such an inseparable companionship.

The funeral service will be held Saturday, September 7, at 2 p. m., in Stone and Myers Chapel, being delayed awaiting the arrival of Mrs. Peebles' sister, Mrs. Stannice Smith, from the East. The Rev. G. G. Schmidt of the Central Evangelical church of Torrance, and the former pastor of this church, Rev. F. A. Zeller of San Bernardino will officiate. Cremation will be at Inglewood cemetery.

Correct this sentence: "The wife wanted to attend a dance," said he, "and I wanted to see a movie so we went to the theatre."

Every town has at least one young man who is a wizard at everything except jobs that earn money.

STATE POLICE PROBE BARN FIRE ORIGIN

James E. Bell, farmer, Mercer road, two miles beyond Coaltown, suffered a severe loss Saturday when fire of an undetermined origin, destroyed a barn with grain, hay, farm implements and two calves. The State police investigated the fire which started at 11:30 a. m. and was still burning until five o'clock. According to stories there is a difference of opinion as to what might have caused the fire. One report said that a man was seen running from the barn to enter a corn field and disappear. Another report is that clover hay might have been wet when put in the barn and that spontaneous combustion caused the flames. A call was sent to this city and a State policeman was sent to the scene. He was told of the report that a man who had been walking along the railroad tracks had also been seen running from a point near the barn and entering a corn field. The State policeman searched the field but found no trace of the man. The loss will reach several thousand dollars as some grain from last year, this season's crop together with farm implements and the two calves were burned.

Police Capture Two Hold-up Men

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16.—Two men were under arrest here today following a holdup of a confectionery store in Carnegie, near here. The men are Earl Chambers, 32, white, and A. Cornelius, 29, negro. According to the story told police by patrons of the store, the pair entered shortly before midnight, flashed guns and forced 14 persons to line up against the wall. While they were collecting their loot two of the patrons slipped out and summoned the police. The men were captured after a short chase.

Milford Kysor who has boxed at Jolly bowl, using the name of Young Kaiser, was instantly killed in East Akron a few days ago. It became known here today. Death came as the result of a collision between two

SHORT IN WIRING CAUSE OF ALARM

Firemen were called to West Washington street at 6:30 Sunday evening by an alarm from box 64. Arriving on the scene they found a short in the wiring of the car of Wade Broadhead of 427 Fairmont avenue had caused such intense heat in the battery that the box was smoking. There was no blaze, however, and the danger of a fire was eliminated by disconnecting the wiring.

The Most Highly Perfected Motor Cars
in the World Today

NEW CADILLACS NEW LA SALLES NEW FLEETWOODS

A greater line of more than 50 magnificent new types and models

A Lower and Wider Price Range on All Body Styles

New Designs—Lower Racier Lines—Greater Seating Capacity—Larger Engines—More Power and Speed—Richer Finer Fisher and Fleetwood Bodies—Non-Shatterable Security-Plate Glass Standard Equipment in All Windows, Doors and Windshields—Synchro-Mesh Silent-Shift Transmission—Safety-Mechanical Four-Wheel
Brakes—New Harmonized Steering System—New Recessed Instrument Panel—Every Essential Engineering and Mechanical Feature Refined Beyond all Previous Cadillac Standards

With the advent of these three superb lines of new Cadillacs, La Salles and Fleetwoods, in a lower and wider price range, the doors automatically open to admit thousands of new owners to the Cadillac family.

The market has never known cars as highly perfected or as complete in every major and minor detail. So, too, on a price comparison basis, the market has never offered so large a measure of in-built worth.

So sharp and striking is the advantage in favor of Cadillac, La Salle and Fleetwood in the performance, appearance and price alignment of this greatest of all Cadillac programs, that it amounts to the creation of a new Cadillac business and a new and vastly greater Cadillac public.

Cadillac, the world's quality standard, becomes also the price and value standard of the world by which all other car values must come to be judged.

Expressed in the fewest possible words with a full sense of their weight and importance, Cadillac promises in these three groups the greatest chassis value, the greatest body value, and the greatest gross and net monetary value known to the motor industry of the world today.

The first promise of greater chassis value can quickly be demonstrated by description, examination and part-and-quality comparison with the world's costliest cars.

It can be proved likewise by performance demonstration—revealing measures of power, speed and acceleration, transmission ease, braking certainty and riding luxury which even Cadillac-La Salle-Fleetwood have not attained before.

The second promise will reveal itself
at a glance in Fisher and Fleetwood bodies so rich and beautiful that the average body appears almost tawdry
by comparison.

The third promise can be verified by studying the very best that the market offers in chassis, performance and appearance and noting how far beyond this other best the Cadillacs, La Salles and Fleetwoods go in all respects.

A summing up of this comparison can have only one result—proof positive of the statement printed above and reprinted here for emphasis:

Cadillac, the world's quality standard, has become also the price and value standard of the world by which all other motor-car values must come to be judged.

Not in any one thing but in all things—in speed plus acceleration plus power plus economy plus appearance plus non-shatterable Security-Plate Glass plus Synchro-Mesh Silent-
Shift Transmission plus Safety-Mechanical Four-Wheel Brakes—so unmistakably the greatest monetary value of the industry that no buyer need call upon a salesman to point
it out for him.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Cadillac-La Salle delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing. 236

YOU SHOULD BE FAIR

As a voter you have a right to know the facts concerning a candidate for any office. Your opinions and your judgment should be formed only after a careful consideration of all the elements surrounding any man or woman who asks for your vote.

BUT, no straight thinking, sound principled voter will allow his judgment to be swayed by rumors, by gossip, by veiled insinuations, or by scandal.

The race for the Republican nomination for District Attorney was singularly free from mud throwing or ugly rumors until the past few days. In that time there have been anonymous telephone calls, whisperings and veiled statements concerning John S. Powers, candidate for the nomination.

DON'T BE MISLEAD by such things at the last moment. You have a right to know who John S. Powers is, what he stands for, and where he is getting his support.

He has lived in Lawrence County all his life. As a boy in the public schools of New Castle he had a desire to some day be a lawyer, but circumstances were such that it seemed impossible. By a supreme effort, by a sacrifice of time and sleep, and some of the refinements of life he worked and studied, and fitted himself for the law. The story of his struggle to be admitted to the bar is one that commands the respect and admiration of every citizen who appreciates pluck and ambition.

The schools he attended are, New Castle Public Schools, graduating from New Castle High School in 1914. Entered Geneva College and worked as a rural mail carrier and in the mills to get money enough to continue. Then into the law school of Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, choosing this school because he could attend at nights and work in the day time greasing switches in the Pennsylvania railroad yards. Has been a lifelong member of the First United Presbyterian church of New Castle.

This is a thumbnail sketch of the life of John S. Powers. His life has been one of struggle to fit himself for an honorable profession. He has succeeded by sheer grit, by bulldog determination, by a never-say-die spirit that must be admired.

Is he backed by a slate or faction? No! His supporters are the honest men and women of Lawrence county who believe in opportunity, who believe that a man who has struggled is entitled to a chance.

Do you believe in opportunity? Do you believe in helping a man who has carved out his own destiny through toil and labor and sacrifice.

Has he made any promises? No! If nominated he can be elected and if he is nominated and elected he will enter the District Attorney's office, free from fractional bickering, free from promises, free to prosecute to the very fullest extent the criminal element.

John S. Powers stands for law enforcement. He knows only too well the danger that lies in unequal enforcement, in favoring one law and slighting another. He believes in the rigid enforcement of all laws and if elected will have but one promise to fulfil. That promise is the sacred obligation to the people of Lawrence county to fulfil the duties of the District Attorney without fear or favor.

You can well afford to vote for John S. Powers for District Attorney, tomorrow.

Robber Falls Asleep Is Easily Captured

Snoring emanating from his bedroom, which was supposed to be empty, caused him to investigate. He found Welch, he said, sleeping loudly, his pockets bulging with loot.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

This time tomorrow and the battle of ballots will be getting warm, with every candidate and his friends looking for more ammunition to throw into the fray. For the past 10 weeks they have brought out the merits of each candidate, and observation leads to the belief that it has been the closest campaign in many years.

Attended another kind of an election, or rather selection, Sunday afternoon. Roamed to Meadville and attended the ordination services of the Methodist Episcopal church conference where a number of ministers were "elected." In this case the election or selection consisted of Bishop Meade ordaining a class of young men who will spend the rest of their lives in the preaching of the gospel.

In the list of ministers who come to New Castle for the coming year you will find a gentleman who was here about the time of the World War, Rev. Clifford S. Joshua. At that time he was the minister of the Emmanuel Baptist church. His friends will be glad to see him back.

Driving out over the country roads now convinces you that autumn is nearly here. The touch of the Great Artist is already on the trees and the green of the woods is already being invaded by splashes of the most vibrant yellow. A little more time and the russets and browns and goldens, the reds and sepias and hennas will be appearing and the mountain slides will be ablaze with color.

Another corn roast Saturday afternoon, this one probably the last of the season. The New Castle Tin Mill Foremen's club threw a party out at Lakewood and following a quaint old Spanish custom I ate too much. Always do at a corn roast, and quite as usual, swear off eating too much after the damage is done.

Some of the world's best appetizers were present at that corn roast. Follows who look to be just ordinary in size, but who seem to have a thin skin, or a hollow leg or something. It's a puzzle where they hide so much food.

Ray Cartwright's plate looked as though he had cleaned out half an acre of corn himself, while Ed Raney went in for the bun eating championship. After practicing on half a dozen hot dog sandwiches, Raney said he was ready for the cats and if he had a dollar for every one he ate, he made a lot of money Saturday.

The baseball game was one of those things that give you a laugh. Clint Mitchell was the umpire and is a bricklayer should have a keen eye, but it may be that because he is a foreman that he favored the foremen's team. Anyway they claimed he did.

A little later, just to show his versatility, he and Homer Marley put

FLEMING FOR SHERIFF

Despite the fact that he was married and the father of three children, Mr. Fleming, with the consent of his wife, waived his right to exemption and enlisted in a combat arm of the military service in 1917. He served with the Tenth Army Corps in Italy, taking part in the drive along the Piave River. He was honorably discharged in 1919 with the rank of First Sergeant.

RECORD AS COUNTY DETECTIVE

Mr. Fleming during his tenure of this office to which he was appointed by District Attorney J. Elder Bryan, has justified the confidence of his superior and in all matters within the scope of his authority has sought to protect life and property and maintain peace and good order in the County. He has cleaned up those sections of the city in which commercialized vice once flourished and he has secured the furniture of the County against the depredations of thieves; in practically every violation of the law of property he has apprehended the guilty persons and restored the stolen goods to the rightful owners. He has never used the police power to persecute ANY, BUT HAS MADE IT THE EFFICIENT BUTTRESS OF THE COURTS FOR THE PROTECTION OF ALL.

REPUBLICAN AFFILIATION

Mr. Fleming is not identified with any self-appointed leader of the Republican Party in Lawrence County. He entered this contest free from the domination or influence of any individual or group. His candidacy is not conditioned by his willingness to obey a master's vote. His Republican convictions are not motivated by primary convictions of a selfish nature. No one can say of him that he is this or that man's candidate. Nor can it be said of Mr. Fleming that while enjoying the prestige and basking in the sunlight of Democratic favor, he is asking the Republic voters of the County to still further ratify a hybrid political association by electing him to the office of Sheriff on the Republican ticket. The candidacy of Mr. Fleming is the result of a ground swell among the rank and file of honest Republican voters seeking to save their Party from betrayal on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

CANDIDATE FLEMING'S FINAL STATEMENT

"There is a fine line of demarcation in the demand for Law Enforcement where insistence ends and tact and often open violation is condoned. In this regard, let me sum up my offering to the voters of the County. In the performance of my duties, my activities have not been and will not be circumscribed within certain ward or precinct limits. I refuse to halt at a dead line drawn between two social groups, as the Constitution of the United States makes no distinction between rich and poor. I have no right of choice within the clear purview of the Prohibition statute. Spectacular forays below the dead line and invasions without warrant of the inalienable rights of those who toil and live in humble circumstance have not been characteristic of my tenure of an appointive office; nor have I hesitated to make arrests where evidence of violation of the law clearly pointed to the sometime sacred precincts of wealth and social position. As I read the Constitution of my country, ALL are bound and NONE are loosed from its obligations. Upon this statement of my conception of the duties of Sheriff, I rest my case with the people, content, regardless of the issue of events, that this is the truly American and truly democratic ideal of government and law-enforcement. By your election, either you dedicate the office of Sheriff to the purpose for which it was established by law, or you place its power in the hands of super-moralists and super-patriots whose legend of service has not as yet and will not likely induce them to 'seek a reputation at the cannon's mouth'. I leave the issue of this contest with the people of the County, confident of their ability to choose the kind of administration they desire for the next four years."

The Story Of The World War
115—Russia On Verge Of Collapse

AMERICA'S ENTRANCE INTO THE WORLD WAR (APRIL 6, 1917) WAS MOST TIMELY FOR THE ALLIES. GIGANTIC RUSSIA, NEVER FULLY RECOVERED FROM HER DEFEATS IN 1915 AND TORN WITH REVOLUTION, WAS FAST TOTTERING OVER THE BANK OF FINAL COLLAPSE.

ALMOST COMPLETELY CUT-OFF FROM THE OTHER ALLIED NATIONS BY THE CENTRAL POWERS, AND UNABLE TO RECEIVE OR PRODUCE ENOUGH MUNITIONS, RUSSIA, THOUGH SHE COULD CALL UPON MILLIONS OF FIGHTING MEN, WAS NEVER ABLE TO THROW HER FULL FORCE INTO THE WAR. THE SCARCITY OF STRATEGIC RAILWAYS AND GOOD ROADS MADE IT DIFFICULT FOR RUSSIA TO SUPPLY HER ARMIES AT THE FRONT.

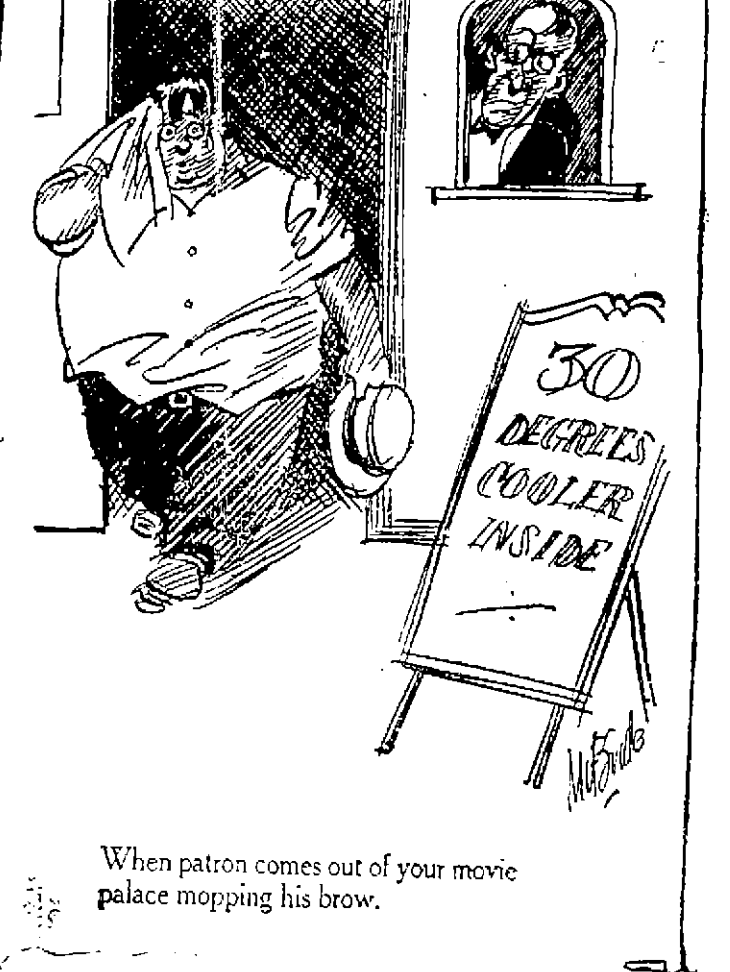

WITHOUT ADEQUATE ARTILLERY SUPPORT, FREQUENTLY BADLY LED AND SOMETIMES LACKING EVEN BULLETS FOR THEIR RIFLES, THE RUSSIAN SOLDIERS WERE HURLED AGAINST WELL-EQUIPPED AND WELL-TRAINED FOES. AS A RESULT RUSSIA'S LOSSES WERE APPALLING, AND EXCEEDED THOSE OF ANY OTHER BEL-LIGERENT NATION.

THE SOLDIERS, FEELING THEY HAD BEEN BETRAYED, CAME TO DISTRUST THEIR OFFICERS. DISCIPLINE STEADILY DECREASED AND A SPIRIT OF MUTINY SMOLDERED IN THE RANKS. AT THE SAME TIME THE GREAT MASSES OF THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE WERE DISGUSTED BY THE WAY THE CZAR'S INCOMPETENT OFFICIALS WERE MIS-MANAGING THE WAR.

Belgian Champ And Kosky Await Bell Tonight

Michiel And Southpaw Clash Tonight At Bowl

Fight Fans Should See Thrilling Bout Between Featherweights; Mozdy And Martin In Semi-final; Romeo Stacks Up Against Slugger In Duffy; Two Slambang Four Round Battles; Bouts Begin At Nine Fast Time.

By ED FRITZ.
Fight fans who like knockouts and lots of action should have their desires gratified tonight at Joby Bowl when Willie Michiel, featherweight champion of Belgium and St. Louis Kosky a southpaw of Chicago, clash in a bout scheduled for ten rounds.
The Belgian has fought Dan Abad, Earl Mastro, Al Greenfield, Midget Mike O'Dowd, Al Tripoli and Pete Nebo. He claims to have won over Abad and Mastro though the decisions were listed as draws. He sent Mastro a prominent title runner-up down for the count.
Kosky has defeated Ignacio Fernandez who kayped Al Singer, Baby Sal, put a crimp in Jackie Dugan here and since his departure from the local ring has chalked up victories over Lou Terry, Benny Dukes and one of the twins, Perlick.
The Belgian arrived from Gus Wilson's camp at Orangeburg, N. Y. yesterday. In size he is as tall as Kosky and appears equally as rugged. He does not wear any cauliflower ears. He had difficulty carrying on a conversation because he understands little English.
When told that Kosky is of the type that snaps into fighting as soon as the bell rings, he smiled and said: "That is good. I am like Mastro whom I shall never forget. If Kosky fights me the fans will see a fight. I will keep punching with him."
Kosky was apprized of the Belgian's declaration. "He is a good fighter. There is no mistake about this, but I am in splendid condition. I hope to knock him out. I have been coming right along and recently defeated Lou Terry, Benny Dukes and one of the Perlicks."

Mozdy After Davies.
During Kosky's fight with Dugan he showed up the last part of the bout but this was caused when one of the seconds allowed a cut closing solution to run into his eye. The pain was excruciating but Kosky never complained but continued punching.
To show the height to which these boys have climbed and to also prove they are among the best, it should be recalled they have fought men standing at the door sill, of the championship, Mastro boxed Michiel and Kosky met Eddie Shel and Fernandez.
There will be plenty of action and it would not be surprising were one of the two main bout, featherweights knocked out. They are fast, punch like dynamite and are versed in all of the tricks of the game. The main event should be a scintillating battle.
The semi-final will bring together the hard hitting flash, Leo Mozdy Erie, and a rugged Johnny Martin of Columbus. They are no bigger than Willie Davies. Mozdy is angling for a shot at Davies who is fighting a non-titular bout with Izzy Schwartz.
Mozdy is perhaps the flashiest kid in this section and he is a main bout fighter in Erie. Due to the constant action he has enjoyed at the constant action he has secured for a lesser position on tonight's card but it doesn't detract from his ability.
Martin's chief claim to a chance to beat Mozdy is three draws with Freddy Edwards who has given Mozdy a whole of trouble every time they have met. Edwards is boxing Tuesday night in New York and could not be booked for tonight.
Romeo Pacelli, featherweight will be given a rousing cheer by his supporters tonight when he tackles a puncher—Tommy Duffy of Cleveland. Duffy has fought 25 times and depends upon a terrific right hand punch to creep into fistic favor.

The first four rounds will be staged by Young Murphy, First ward, and Young City (Simperton), Fifth ward. Roy Minter promises to show the fans his real worth when he takes on Joe Folans of Beaver Falls in another four rounder.
Expect Large Crowd.
As a large crowd is expected at the bowl to see the topnotch featherweights the doors will be open at 7:45. There will be extra ushers and police. No doubt the fight itself will keep the fans on the edge until the battle starts.
During the past few fights the fans have been very fair to the fighters. They have played the role of good sportsmen and the few who issued boos, sometimes out of fun, have decided to eliminate this as they know the boys are earning their bread and butter.
The boing that went on hurt the bowl attendance as the fair minded fan knows that the fighters generally work their hardest here. We have always contended the fans are as fair here as anywhere and for this reason they're straining along and cutting out the boos.

De Carbo Out Of Action On Account Of Bad Shoulder
(Special To The News)
BLUFF FIELD, PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 16.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon Head Coach Elmer Layden and Coach Joe Bach will put the Duquesne university football squad thru the first part of the last week preparations for the opening game with Edinboro State college.
The squad has been dwindled to 50 gridders.
Louis "Doc" Skender, tackle, and Kasin "Favche" Kovalechick, fullback, will enter their last year of activities Saturday. Head Coach Elmer Layden and Coach Joe Bach are fast developing under studies to these able veterans.
Earl "Oil" Turk has returned to the fold, being absent one week because of a spiked heel. Turk will soon be in condition, but he may not see action for several weeks at least. Nick DeCarbo has been out of action for several days on account of a bad shoulder. Glenn Thomas suffered a bruised ribs in Saturday's scrimmage. George "Mike" Mitchell is the other New Castle boy that is impressing the coach.

Third Game Of Series Tuesday

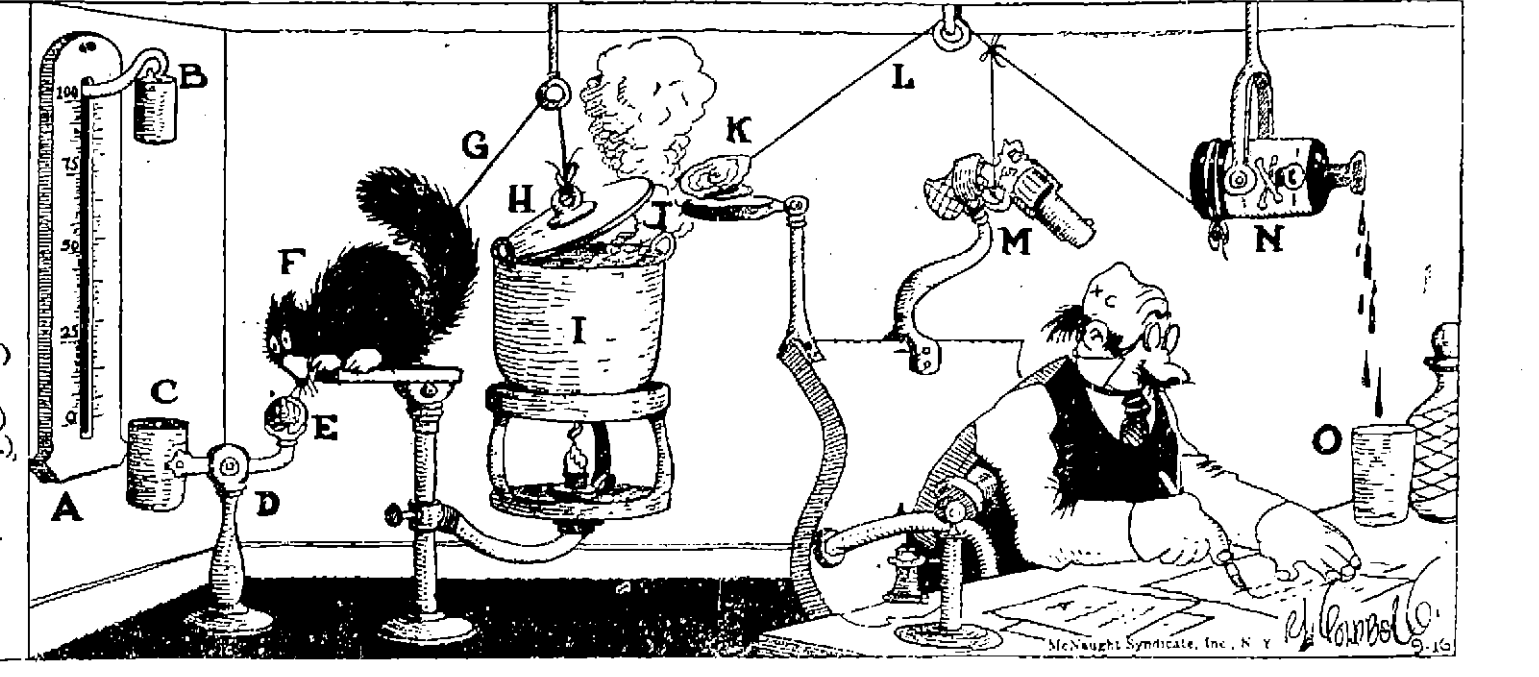

Italians And Pennsy Teams To Battle In Series Game Tuesday Night
GAME IS CALLED FOR 6 O'CLOCK
The third game of the championship series in the Lawrence county baseball league between the Italian and Pennsy teams will be played at Centennial field at 6 o'clock on Tuesday evening, it was announced today.
The game scheduled for last Saturday was washed off the board by a steady downpour of rain. The Italians have the edge so far with one victory to their credit. The second game ended in a deadlock. The Pennsy team will try hard for victory tomorrow and to even up the series.
Manager Alex Black will likely send Shields to the knoll for the game Tuesday. It was this same youngster who held the P. R. R. in check in the first game. McCloskey has announced that he will use either Coates or Hutnick.
The umpires for Tuesday night will be Evans and Parks.

Routis-Mandell Are Scored By Boxing Board

National Boxing Association Meeting Opens In Chicago Today

By CLAIR KELLY
International News Service Special Correspondent
CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Recommendation of drastic action against two present world's champions, Andre Routis and Sammy Mandell, featherweight and lightweight titleholders respectively, featured the opening meeting here today of the National Boxing Association attended by commissioners from thirty one states.
Paul Prehn, of Champaign, Ill., president of the association board and former chairman of the Illinois commission, made the official attack in giving his annual report this morning.
Prehn's recommendations regarding the two champions in question declared that unless the convention decided to recognize "Bat" Eatalino of Connecticut as an acceptable featherweight contender in his scheduled bout with Routis Sept. 23, he asked that Routis be refused further recognition as champion.
In the case of Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., lightweight king, Prehn moved that Mandell's manager, Eddie Kane, be permitted to state his case before the convention. However, he asserted, it is his belief that unless Kane can produce bona-fide contracts for a titular fight the N. B. A. is justified in ceasing to recognize Mandell as lightweight champion.

Two Westminster Stars Will Coach Elizabeth High

Two Westminster College athletic stars will coach the Elizabeth, Pa., high school sports teams this year. Captain Joseph Furno of last year's Tri-State Conference championship football team will be head coach of football and assistant coach of basketball. Furno played football for four years at Westminster, played intra-mural basketball for four years, and was a member of the track squad.
Charles Ayers, captain of last year's district championship basketball team, will be head coach of basketball and assistant coach of football at Elizabeth high. Ayers won letters in football, basketball, and track during his four years at Westminster.

Loughran Given Popular Belt

Tommy Loughran Voted Most Popular And Valuable Boxer In United States
(International News Service)
HARVEY'S LAKE, Pa., Sept. 16.—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia heavyweight, is today the most popular and valuable boxer in the ring. Yesterday the handsome Tommy, with his family looking on, was presented the big silver belt emblematic of value and popularity. The choice is made annually by a jury of twenty-five of the country's leading boxing officials, of which Mayor James J. Walker, of New York, is chairman.
This year Loughran won with twenty-three out of twenty-four votes, exceeding the vote given Gene Tunney last year by two votes.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Coach Bill Jones will send his army squad through its first scrimmage today.

Blue And White Squad Reaching Season Form; Squad Reduced To 32

The third week of preliminary training for the Westminster College football team started this morning. The men on the squad, with the exception of Dave Morrison, Elizabeth guard, who was discharged from the Jameson hospital, New Castle, on Saturday night following an operation on his foot, are in good shape.
No practice was held Saturday afternoon, so most of the men on the squad spent the week-end at their homes. But 15 men were at the training table Saturday evening and yesterday. Then, too, the squad has now been reduced to 32 men, the size it will probably remain during the season.
As the United Presbyterian hopefully go into the last week of the two-drill daily sessions it is evident that while three good ends are available, the Titans will be weak in the matter of replacements on the wing positions. Then, too, there are few replacements for the backfield, although the first-string lineup looks good.
If the lineup used most frequently during the scrimmage sessions last week is any criterion, Samuel Merriam, Turtle Creek, will call the signals; Ben Paldy, Bentleyville, will play right half; Adrian Dible, Verona, will play left half; and Harry Michaels, Turtle Creek, will play fullback.
On the line, Joseph Pipoly, Scruthers, O.; Harry Brownie, Lock Haven; and Emmett Tweedy, Turtle Creek, are all on a par as ends. Gerry Sweet, Erie; Richard Fuller, Erie; Dave Morrison, Elizabeth; Scott Hadden, Meadville; George Cebula, Campbell, O.; and Robert Pollock, Pittsburgh are guards. Sweet and Fuller, however, should get the call.
For the tackle posts, Joseph Domrowski, veteran from Elizabeth; Ho-

Fourteen Lights To Flood Field

Fourteen Huge Lights Will Be Installed At Franklin Field For Night Football
Ralph H. Gardner, faculty manager at Senior High, announced today that the lighting system for night football will be installed early this week. A demonstration of the project will be held sometime toward the latter part of the week.
Fourteen huge reflectors will be placed on the field. Seven on each side of the stadium. The fourteen lights will give a candle power of 42,000 kilowatts.
It is likely that the games will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Opponents Agree To Play At Night

Grove City, Rayen, Aliquippa And Westinghouse Agree To Night Football Scheme
The first four teams on the New Castle high school football schedule have agreed to play night football here, it was announced today at senior high by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner.
When the project was given final decree by the school board, Gardner got busy and notified the various schools that the plan for night football had gone through at New Castle. The four opponents listed for games by "light" agreed to the plan.
Stagg's backfield star has flunked in bacteriology, which should prompt a student investigation into the reason a football player was allowed to tackle such a terrible course. — The Muncie Morning Star.

Mushball Season Is Declared Over

Lehigh And Tin Mill Teams To Battle For City Championship; First Game Tuesday
The New Castle Mushball League for 1929 is now history. It was decided upon to close the season at once and arrange a championship series between the Lehigh and Tin Mill teams for the city championship.
The first game of the series will be played Tuesday night at Lehigh field. The second game will be staged at Colonial field Thursday. The series will be the best of three games.
The other teams may play out the schedule if they so desire, but owing to football season approaching and the fact that it gets dark quicker these days, and also the rather cool weather, it was deemed advisable to wind up the playing for this year.
It is planned to have a fast league next year, divided into two sections, class A and class B. Four teams in each section would make an interesting series of games. As it stands now, there are a few teams too strong for the others and the competition is not keen enough.
The impending series will be a good one. Both teams are evenly matched as to playing material. A real battle is looked for each time the two clubs go to the "mat".
It is planned to start the series games at six o'clock, D. S. T., or as soon after six o'clock as possible, in order to get seven innings played. Each team will submit a certified list of 15 men.

Contestants All Set For Election Day Tomorrow

Much Friendly Rivalry Evincing
Over The Contests For Local Offices Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 16.—Much friendly interest and rivalry is stirred up here over the fact that tomorrow is the day that various parties will decide who their candidates will be for the coming elections in November.

The local contest has its interesting features in the fact that the various political parties are nominating their choices for burgess, councilmen, tax collector and school directors. Ellwood City is also interested in the county contest in the nomination for sheriff and district attorney, as well as jury commissioners.

Ellwood now has five wards in which to vote, instead of the four last year, and this adds considerably to the voting power of the city.

The machine turned over three times, according to Mr. Bauder's report of the accident when interviewed this morning.

Mr. Bauder was alone and en route to the airport when the narrow piece of road and the rains during the past few days put the road in a slippery condition, causing the car to skid over the bank. There is very little left of the machine and Mr. Bauder is badly burned about the head, shoulders and arms. He is resting as comfortably as may be expected in the local hospital.

Armour And Dishong Fight For Tackle Position At Westminster

ARMOUR - GUARD

DISHONG - TACKLE

Among the candidates for the tackle position vacated by Captain Joseph Furno who was graduated in June, William Armour, Sharon, and Homer Dishong, Johnstown, look like possibilities. Another likely-looking candidate is Donald Cleland, Butler Road.

Armour, eliminated early last year because of an injury, is in good shape and should see action in a number of games. Dishong, a substitute line-man last year, weighs more than 200 pounds and up until Tuesday when he was injured looked like the man for the position. Cleland, returning to Westminster after an absence of three years, has the weight and size to make a good lineman.

Walsh Predicts Series Will Be Quite Long One

International News Service
Sports Editor Says Snow
May Arrive To Spoil
Series Games

WILL RUN INTO
MIDDLE OF OCTOBER

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—By the way, have you made your world series reservations, or don't you care much for winter sports? This is a fair question considering the fact that they have arranged to have the thing intrude so vulgarly into the football season that the first thing you know the promoters of the tournament of roses game at Pasadena will be getting indignant.

It is a fair question about anything that proposes to come to a conclusion on October 17 and may actually do so no later than the following Wednesday a week. What with a couple of normal days of rain, an open Sunday in Philadelphia and 24-hour moratoriums for travel between the two cities, this series is liable to be running longer than old man McGonigle's beer tap. It even might carry on into the final week of October, by which time the boys won't be sliding into the bases. They will be doing the ski jump. This possibility is not without precedent.

Series Drawn Out
It was away back in 1911 that baseball decided to do some of its running at the winter tracks. In consequence of which the Giants and Athletics overtook the final game of their series on or about October 25. For upward of a week they tried to play the first game of that series, but rain and snow and sleet wouldn't have it that way. When they finally decided to blast everybody had turned his attention to something important. This one is down in the books as the latest series on record, the award having been made, it was learned, that some of the newspapermen were back in the bosom of their families by Christmas. This was unusually early and indicated that they must have been terribly discouraged by something.

The next latest was the 1910 series between the same clubs that are involved this year, the Cubs and Athletics. However, if the impending series goes seven games, the 1929 outfit figure to do no more than become the runners-up for the long distance championship.

The series is scheduled to open with two games in Chicago on October 8 and 9, and, if there is no rain, the boys will be 2 up on Old Man Frost, the national open champion. If you leave anything open, he wins.

Anyhow, October 10 is supposed to be spent in traveling to Philadelphia, with games scheduled for the latter part of the month for the long distance championship.

Anyhow, October 10 is supposed to be spent in traveling to Philadelphia, with games scheduled for the latter part of the month for the long distance championship.

May Conflict
This is the program, but, frankly, I think they could have saved themselves a lot of trouble if they set aside at least two days for rain. If they have only two of them they will be getting the break of a lifetime, at that. If they have as many as five, they will find themselves competing with the Pennsylvania-California football game at Philadelphia and for all I know, the Michigan-Chicago meeting at Urbana, Ill., the following week.

By the way, who has the ice cream cone privilege at this series?

AMERICAN LEGION
ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 16.—The regular meeting of the American Legion takes place this evening in the Legion rooms. A large attendance is expected, as reports will be made regarding the drive to raise funds to furnish the drum corps with uniforms.

Cubs May Clinch Pennant Today

If Cubs Beat Dodgers Today,
Chicago Will Go Baseball
Mad Is Indication

TEAMS FIGHTING
FOR SECOND MONEY

By HENRY McLEMORE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Chicago, already suffering badly from baseball fever, will no doubt be delirious before night-fall.

For it seems extremely likely that Joe McCarthy and his band of Cubs will steal into the sick-room and lay a pennant beside the patient—an act that has yet to cool the brow of a baseball-mad city.

Judging from yesterday's performance when they shot the Robins full of holes the Cubs should get the game they need to clinch the pennant today. Their big trouble will be getting past Dazzy Vance who is slated to win his last ones up to the plate.

The spirited dash of the Giants to grab second place remained in a state of arrested motion, they splitting a double header with the Cards, winning the first 4 to 0, before dropping the second 6 to 4.

Cincinnati shoved Boston further into the cellar by taking two games 5 to 1 and 3 to 1.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

Yankee followers' loyal souls that they are, trooped 40,000 strong to the stadium to watch the shattered champions split with the Indians. Tom Zachary held the visitors to four hits in the opener while his comrades eked out a 1 to 0 win. Willis Hudlin went Tom one better in the second allowing the Yanks but three singles as his beloved tribe smashed out a 10 to 0 victory. Zachary's triumph was his eleventh for the season against no defeats.

Detroit and Washington, fought eight innings to a 3-3 tie in the second game of a twin bill after the Tigers had taken the opener 16 to 2, darkness called a halt to the tie game.

The Sox, Red and White broke even in two games, the former winning the first 5 to 4. The latter the second 3 to 2.

Philadelphia and St. Louis spent a day of rest, thanks to the schedule makers.

POLICE OFFICER PURSUES YOUNG MAN WITH PACKAGE; LIQUOR CHARGE RESULT

James Paolise, arrested early Saturday evening by Officer McMullen after an exciting chase, faces a hearing today before Mayor William H. Gillespie as a result of a package containing a quart of moonshine, which he is said to have been carrying when first seen by Officer McMullen.

Officer McMullen had just completed making a call about 8:10 p. m. to the police station and was walking down Bank street with a colored man, who claimed he wanted to show him some trouble, when a man turned into Bank street at the corner of Pete Bongivengo's house, who was carrying a package.

The man saw the officer about as soon as the officer saw him and immediately turned and fled. Officer McMullen at once gave chase, being about 30 feet distant when the chase started.

When he came to a shed the man disappeared and the officer heard something hit the ground in the rear of the shed with a thud.

As the officer was attempting to get track of the missing man, James Paolise stepped out from around the shed in front of the officer.

The officer grabbed him and tried to get him around on the side of the shed where he heard the thud but Paolise pulled away and did not want to go. Finally the officer used his handcuffs on Paolise and forced him to go around where the package was found.

Paolise and the package unopened were taken to the police station where the package was opened. It was found to be a package of endive in the center of which was a quart of moonshine.

Paolise was ordered held and his attorney appeared and arranged bail in the sum of $1,500 for his appearance for a hearing before Mayor Gillespie today.

Expect Oil City To Tidoute Road Will Be Opened

The road from Oil City to Tidoute, Pa., has been closed nearly all summer, due to severe slides and reconstruction work. The 18 miles of detour is not in good condition, but the main road will be opened in about a month.

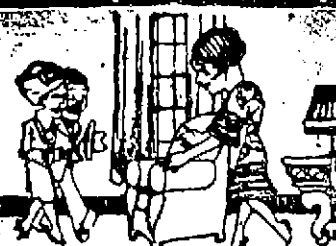

Severe slides have also greatly hampered the work on the road from Tidoute to Warren, Pa. One place great crevices appeared after a slide. A house was split in two parts and moved from its foundation. This had more of the appearance of an earth quake than anything else. The work on the road to Warren may be delayed until next year until the ground is more settled.

The new road from Franklin to Oil City is greatly appreciated by motorists. It is a fine road and eliminates the toll bridge and a strip of gravel road. This road follows the river and numerous cuts had to be made. Retaining walls were placed. These walls are not of solid concrete but are made latticed. This is better for drainage purposes.

Hope To Solve Farrell Killing

State And County Officers Are Working Hard In Effort To Solve Case

MERCER, Pa., Sept. 16.—That the detectives working out of his office will stay on the job until further work is useless or the murderer of Hoe Palladino of Farrell is captured is the announcement of District Attorney Leo McKay.

Since the killing of the Farrell Italian there has been a state man on the job working along with Chief of Police Jack Slesick and County Detective Leyschock.

The officers have been working night and day on the case, reports Mr. McKay who states that the killing is the most cold blooded murder in his term.

Time and money will not be spared in bringing about a capture.

MERCER SCHOOLS OPEN.
Starting Monday the schools of the 45 districts in Mercer county will be in full operation.

This will affect 35,000 school children. The schools well filled with the high schools in most of the towns crowded is the report of the county educators.

BALLOTS DELIVERED.
The county commissioners completed ballot deliveries Saturday for the primaries of September 17. There were 50,000 official and 20,000 specimen ballots taken out along with the supplies. A big vote is expected in the towns and a light one in the country districts.

STOP BOOTLEGGERS AT LINE.

The impression prevailing that all cars were stopped at the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line recently by officers and searched is disputed here today by District Attorney Leo McKay who states that only cars of which the officers had suspicion were stopped.

The fact that many of those stopped resulted in confiscation of liquor and many arrests for driving while drunk is substantiation enough that the officers were doing their duty.

HAS TON LITTER.
E. N. Wilson of Mercer is the first in Mercer county to qualify for the Ton Litter club.

His 13 pigs weighed 2,900 pounds at the age of six months which terminates the contest.

In 1927 Mercer county led the state with 11 pig owners who qualified in the Ton Litter club. Litters of pigs that weigh over a ton at six months of age qualify the owner to membership.

BIG FIGHT ON.

The number of politicians visiting the office of the commissioners to obtain specimen ballots indicates the strained relationship in the big towns of the county between the political factions.

A big vote may be looked for in the towns estimated at any place from 50 to 75 per cent which is very near the limit out at any time. The big fight is on the municipal candidates with very little attention being paid to the county candidates.

NOTIFY MERCHANTS.

Final notices were sent out today by County Treasurer G. R. McQuiston to Farrell merchants who have not yet paid their 1929 mercantile tax. The next step will be collection by process of law.

Final notices to other county merchants will be dispatched soon. There yet remain 300 unpaid taxables.

Cashier Of Bank Expires Suddenly

GALLIPOLIS, O., Sept. 16.—W. S. Manning, 65, former Republican sheriff of Gallipolis county two terms and cashier of the defunct Merchants & Farmers bank, fell dead of heart disease at Delaware, where he had for some time been engaged in the mercantile business.

Highland Church Young People Go To Beaver Falls

Pay Return Call To Valley Church Young People Sunday Night

Members of the Young People's Christian Union of the Highland U. P. church motored caravan style to College Hill, Beaver Falls, last night and attended a meeting of the College Hill U. P. church young people. Frank Brenneman, president of the society, was in charge and responded for the group when a College Hill officer welcomed them. Dr. T. J. McFate, counselor of the Highland organization, also spoke for the latter church.

The local church, in going to the valley town last night, was but paying a return visit for one the College Hill society made to New Castle during the summer.

Strange Suicide Of Man At Party

GREENSBURG, Sept. 16.—Edward A. Davis, 65, resident of Hummelville, near Mount Pleasant, walked into the yard of his home and shot himself through the head during a party arranged in his honor. Two and one-half hours later, Davis died in the Memorial hospital. Mount Pleasant, from shock and the bullet wound.

The motive for his suicide is unknown. While violins were sounding for an impromptu dance, Davis left the gathering of his children and friends, and a few seconds later the explosion of a shotgun put an end to the merriment. He is survived by his widow and several grown up children.

A Montana man killed his estranged wife and three of her family, and it is getting so that marriage may have to be classed among the extra-hazardous occupations. — The Topeka Daily Capital.
